50 Belgians Hurt In Riot Outbreak

Voting On King Leopold Is Cause Of Disturbance

By Alfred Cheval

BRUSSELS, March 11.—(AP)—Fifty demonstrators were injured at Antwerp last night in a violent prelude to tomorrow's advisory referendum on the future of exiled King Leopold III.

Hand-to-hand fighting between Leopoldists and large numbers of his opponents broke out during a fireworks display staged by supporters of the move to bring the King back to the throne he left after surrendering to the Germans in 1940.

Five hundred policemen were needed to quell the riot.

It was the largest disorder reported thus far in connection with the referendum tomorrow, in which some 3,500,000 of the 8,000,000 Belgians are eligible to cast ballots. The polls will be open between 7 a.m. and noon (2 a.m. and 7 a.m. MST).

MAY ABDICATE

Leopold has said he would abdicate in favor of his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, if he receives less than 55 per cent of the votes. But if he does attain that majority, it will not insure his return.

The referendum is only advisory, to indicate the will of the voting population. Parliament still must decide whether to ask the 48-year-old Leopold to resume the use of his constitutional powers." Leopold must decide whether to accept any invitation that is forthcoming.

Following Belgium's surrender to the Germans May 28, 1940, the King refused to follow the country's exiled government to London. Instead he remained to become a prisoner of the Germans and was deported by them to Germany in 1944.

Excelsior Oil Field Shows Fine Promise

Imperial Oil officials are optimistic over the development of the Excelsior oil field into a possible third major Edmonton oil area.

"It looks good," they said of Imperial Excelsior No. 2, which established a pay zone thickness of 129 feet this week.

The pay-zone, which lies in D-2, compares favorably with most Redwater and Leduc wells and is much greater than in any of the other five wells in the Excelsior area.

NEED MORE WELLS

But a total of 10 to 12 wells must be brought in before the exact size and potentialities of the field can be determined, said an Imperial Oil spokesman.

"It may be just a fairly small field, despite its promise," said the spokesman. "Joseph Lake, which is interesting but not important compared to Leduc or Redwater, turned out that way."

Imperial Oil has now reached 3,916 feet in Imperial Excelsior No. 2 and will continue drilling until it reaches water level. In the third drillstem test Friday morning, a 5½-inch liner was run in from 3,721 to 3,916. Drillers are waiting on cement.

Soccer Lead Increased By Manchester United

LONDON, March 11.—(Reuters)—Manchester United came from behind at Middlesbrough today to nose out the Yorkshire soccer team 3-2 and move farther ahead in the Football League's first division.

Forty-five thousand fans watched glumly as a second-half rally put the leaders in front. The United now leads Liverpool—who lost 2-0 at Aston Villa—by four points.

Liverpool was joined in a three-way tie for second place by Blackpool—who beat West Bromwich Albion 3-0—and Sunderland—who won at Wolverhampton, whipping the Wanderers 3-1.

SURPRISE DRAW

Tottenham Hotspur, runaway leaders of the second division, were held to an unexpected scoreless draw by lowly Luton Town but retained their 12-point lead over Sheffield United. The latter also drew, 1-1 at Bradford.

Leading Notts county stayed three points ahead of the pack in the third division southern by whipping Brighton and Hove Albion 4-2 while second-place Torquay United stopped Crystal Palace 3-1.

Doncaster Rovers stayed on top of the northern section with a 2-2 draw at Accrington Stanley but their lead was shaved to a single point when Rochdale beat Crewe Alexandra 1-0.

SCOTTISH CUP PLAY

The soccer spotlight in Scotland rested on the quarter-final cup games. Partick Thistle and East Fife won their way into the penultimate round with 5-1 and 3-0 victories over Stirling Albion and Stenhousemuir respectively.

Jet Fighter On Display

OTTAWA, March 11 — (CP) — Swooping in front of a distinguished audience at speeds which reached 575 miles an hour, the first all-Canadian jet fighter today paraded her talents as the most powerful plane of its type in the world.

Sqdn. Ldr. Bill Waterton of Camrose, Alta., the test pilot who has flown the CF-100 on all her 11 flights, took her for 15 minutes through a broad range of aerobatics, including slow and climbing rolls, rolls "off the top" and other manoeuvres.

PM Misinformed Laborite Claims

VANCOUVER, March 11.—(CP) —A Labor leader here disputed Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement in the Commons that unemployment in Canada is on the downward trend.

"Mr. St. Laurent is misinformed if he believes that," Ald. R. K. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver and district Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) declared.

"Employment in some outdoor industries has picked up because of better weather," he said, "but the basic industries still are not employing as many persons as before."

Man In North Dies Of Burns

ATHABASCA, March 11. — A. Rubstat, Sask., man, turned into a human torch by flaming gasoline, died from his burns Friday.

Irving Johnson, 20, was rushed to Athabasca hospital Thursday evening from Boyle where he was doused with gasoline spilled from a four-gallon pail and set on fire by a stove.

A truck entering the Seismograph Services Limited garage, where Johnson was employed, knocked over the pail and caused the accident.

From there he was taken to Edmonton where he died Friday.

Manning's Followers Termed 'Disillusioned'

Bitter personal attack by Liberal Leader Prowse upon Premier E. C. Manning as the "Judas of the Social Credit party" was cut short in yesterday's legislative session by the Speaker of the House.

But before he was stopped for reading a speech which the speaker, Hon. Peter Dawson, "doubted was his own" the Liberal had flung the most violent charges heard in this session across the floor of the House to the Premier.

He said Mr. Manning was sometimes "praying for the poor but more often dining with the rich" . . . and "showing more concern for the pockets of the bondholders and investment dealers than he is for the pockets of the people who in blind faith voted him into power."

Followers of the premier, he said, find themselves "adrift, bewildered, befuddled and disillusioned . . . called upon to try to explain the vacillations of their premier."

If the founder of the Social Credit party, the late Premier Aberhart, "was the Messiah of the Social Credit movement, then the present premier is certainly its Judas," he said.

The Speaker protested that Mr. Prowse was reading a speech which he doubted was his own.

Mr. Prowse said he resented that

3 'Saucers' in Alberta Sky Look Like Meteors, Dishpans

"Flying Saucer" stories have hit Edmonton in the past two days, hard on the heels of a new upsurge of similar stories in the United States and Mexico.

The mysterious objects, which have been sighted in most parts of the continent for the last few years, have been described as everything from saucer-shaped to bath-shaped.

The Edmontonians who reported seeing these objects have theirs colored and not too definitely shaped.

The flying saucer which a government aviation inspector reported seeing over Chihuahua in northern Mexico last week was in reality the planet Venus, shining her prettiest that night, the Mexican army said today.

After report was published, other flying saucers were reported over Durango and Guerrero states, although these subsequent reports were reported in serious vein only by the more sensational newspapers.

LAC Pat Rooney, 11343-106 street while not saying the "little people" were responsible—told The Bulletin he would like to "debunk" that the sighted objects were "saucers or dishpans, or anything like that."

Britain Faces Loss of Help

WASHINGTON, March 11—(AP) — Paul G. Hoffman said today Britain stands to lose $150,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid unless she joins with other European countries in a plan to lower trade barriers.

The Economic Co-operation Administrator told reporters the big cut-back—amounting to almost one-quarter of the sum tentatively earmarked for British recovery next year—won't be put into effect as "punitive action"; the money simply will go into a proposed European payments union whether or not Britain joins.

Nevertheless, Hoffman said he is "annoyed" with the British government for its stand on the complicated plan to help liberalize the exchange of currency among Western European countries.

HOPE IS HELD

"But they are the usual annoyances that result from trying to resolve differences," he said, adding that he expects Britain to go along with the project eventually.

The European payments union, as blueprinted by Hoffman, would function as a currency clearing-house for all Marshall Plan countries. ECA has set aside $500,000,000 to finance operation of the scheme but Britain thus far has refused to say that she will participate.

One Injured In Gas Blast

WAINWRIGHT, March 11.—Gregor McCluskey, employe of Reynolds garage, was rushed to Wainwright Hospital early yesterday evening, with injuries to the face and hands following a gas explosion at a local garage.

Reports indicate that McCluskey was injured when he attempted to light the stove in the garage after the natural gas supply had been cut off for over two hours.

The whole town was without gas from about 4 p.m. Friday until after six, when a bulldozer was believed to have struck the pipe line between Wainwright and Fabian.

Apparently the gas stove at the garage had been burning at the time of the cutoff. After repairs had been made and the power resumed, the stove was releasing gas for about ten minutes before McCluskey entered the room.

Railways Seek 3.4 Per Cent Hike

Third Increase Application Comes As Surprise To All

In a surprise move, the Railway Association of Canada applied to the Board of Transport Commissioners to boost its March 1 increase award by another 3.4 per cent.

Granting of the application would add about $11,000,000 to the national freight bill.

The March 1 award gave the railways about $26,000,000 a year, boosting existing rates by 7.4 per cent. The railways had asked in 1948 for a 20 per cent increase, and on this they got eight per cent last September and another eight of the 20 per cent March 1. The latest boost amounted to 7.4 per cent on the rates in effect.

After that award, the railways filed new rate schedules taking in the increase, to become effective March 23. Now they ask the full 20 per cent.

The action came while most of the provinces opposing rate increases were considering an appeal to cabinet for downward revision of the March 1 award, and after one of them—Saskatchewan—actually had decided to launch such an appeal.

TACTICAL APPEAL

The railway association—which includes the two national systems and about 15 smaller lines—contended in its application that the board's March 1 judgment had been out of line on legal points.

The railways also sought to keep open an avenue of appeal to the supreme court of Canada by asking the board to extend the normal time in which such an appeal might be entered.

One view was that the railway action would have the effect of consolidating the seven provinces —not including Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland—behind the appeal.

Tactically, the railway move was regarded as tending to block off any action by cabinet to reduce the March 1 increase. The cabinet may either adjust the amount of an increase or send it back to the transport board for reconsideration.

Red Chinese Are Jittery In Canton

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, March 11.—(AP) —Canton, greatest city of south China, today was depicted by independent Chinese as a centre of terror and Communist government crisis, all because of a relative handful of Nationalist air bombs.

Promiscuous shootings by frightened Red troops, use of forced labor and a financial panic are reported elements in the atmosphere of fright.

The Reds have not tried to conceal the fact that they are attempting to move their regional government to a safer place. They have encouraged the mass flight of civilians in progress since the damaging Nationalist air raids of March 3rd.

FEAR, DESPAIR

Despatches personally brought out by reporters for independent Chinese papers in this British colony 70 miles away paint a picture of fear and despair in that city of more than 1,000,000.

The independent Wah Kiu Yat Po said that the Communist money, the Jen Min Piao ("people's currency") had practically collapsed. It said that on the morning of March 8 the money was quoted at 6,000 to one Hong Kong dollar, and by 4 p.m. the same day had fallen to 22,000 to one Hong Kong dollar. (This would make it about 1,500,000 to one Canadian dollar.)

The independent Sing Tao Jih Pao reported the Communist military control commission, a Communist police officers' school and south China university all were moving to Kukong.

Quintuplet goats, two male and three female, tottered about the barn at the Frank Corbus home in Hudson, Ohio, today almost unnoticed outside the neighborhood.

The mass birth, which veterinarians said was almost as rare with goats as with humans, occurred about 10 days ago to a nanny goat named Queenie.

It was too much for Queenie; she died two days later.

LAWRENCE KENNEY
. . . Still Homeless.

WJP Chief Constable Is Generously Built

By Barney McKinley
Bulletin Staff Writer

In fact, 33-year-old Lawrence Kenney, former chief of police at Barrhead, Alta., is about as sturdy a gentleman as can be found outside of a wrestling ring.

He weighs in on the side of law and order at a nice stalwart 250 pounds and measures way up to six feet, three and one-half inches, vertically. And that's not counting his police boots.

HE 'FELL DOWN'

The massive Mr. Kenney was due to take up his law enforcement duties Friday—only he "fell down" on his very first assignment.

After two days of sleuthing he was still unable to find a home for himself and his wife in the village.

Late Friday afternoon watching a speeder tooling along Stony Plain Road with a shocking disregard for his presence in the village the new chief was still maintaining a determination not to don the uniform he brought with him from Barrhead until he had a place to live.

OBEYS HIS OWN ORDERS

"What this place needs is a few convictions," he took time out to remark, however, as he watched a red truck plummet past.

The new chief is not sure just what name to attach to his law enforcement job in the village.

"I applied for the position of police chief," he said Friday. "But it's a little like being principal in a one-room school."

Chief Kenney said that he began his police career on the Nelson police force in B.C., "back in the days of the Doukhobor nude parades."

After a stint with the Nelson force he joined the army where he served in the Field Security Intelligence and came out of the fray with a damaged chest.

"The doctors told me not to go back to B.C." he related, "They thought the Alberta climate would do me more good."

"My pension's gone now," he added, dryly. "So I imagine my disability has too."

Premier Attacked By Liberal Leader

"TOOLS OF INTERESTS"

But he switched his attack upon the premier to the government, stating that the 1950 budget showed more than half of provincial income coming from "people who drive motor vehicles and who drink liquor."

The government, he said, "has abandoned all pretence of improving the interests of the ordinary citizens, and has become the tools of and the co-conspirators with the large oil corporations and the vested interests."

He accused the government of a "deliberate plan to shift on to municipalities at every opportunity the costs of providing the increased services which public opinion demands."

GOVERNMENT REALLY TORY

Criticism of the government's policies—coupled with the charge that Social Credit is "dead"—came from another quarter of the opposition during the afternoon.

A. J. E. Lieseman (CCF — Calgary) claimed the "government is really Tory: it is Social Credit in name only."

Only the present wave of prosperity is hiding from the public the fact that the government isn't doing the things it promised to do, he said.

"PARTY OF BIG SHOTS"

The CCF member, contrasting Alberta auto insurance rates with those in effect in Saskatchewan under a government-sponsored insurance plan, said the Alberta government is putting insurance premiums "into the pockets of the big shots."

"Social Credit," he said, "is dead; we now have the party of the big shots."

The day of harsh criticism for the Social-Crediters was climaxed by a hint that the Speaker's rulings may be protested officially during the current session of the legislature.

CRITICAL OF SPEAKER

Arthur Wray (Ind. SC—Banff-Cochrane) said it was his intention to introduce a motion "dealing with certain actions of the chair."

His threat came after Speaker Dawson ordered him to withdraw his remark that he had been "denied certain democratic rights."

"That is a reflection on the chair," the Speaker said.

"I'm sorry——" Mr. Wray began.

"I will accept the apology," the Speaker said.

Earlier, the Banff-Cochrane member, who crossed the floor of the House from the government side in 1947, challenged members of the government to "bring in something during this session that will be a forward step towards the advancement of Social Credit."

He said he could not have confidence in the government "particularly in the cabinet" because he "could not condone things which I know have been going on."

eyes, which saw "nothing but a big meteor" at 7:10 p.m. Thursday.

"I've seen many meteors, or 'shooting stars' in my life," said Rooney, "and these so-called 'flying saucers' were just three pieces of one meteor. I distinctly saw one object break into three.

"COMET-LIKE TAIL"

The 33-year-old aero-engine technician had just left his home with his friend Ronnie Dukelski, when they sighted the apparition over the airport.

"Ronnie and I both saw it at the same time," Rooney said, adding "it was travelling at least 1,500 miles-an-hour and was bluish-white with no definite shape and a comet-like tail.

He said its height was about four miles and that it broke up and travelled in a northwesterly direction for "20 miles or so", then seemed to go out suddenly.

'HE DOESN'T KNOW'

J. W. Campbell, head of the University of Alberta's mathematics department and honorary president of the Edmonton centre, Canadian Astronomical Society, said "I don't know what 'they' might have been —if there was anything."

According to the description of the mysterious objects, said Mr. Campbell, they were not likely to have been meteors.

"But," he added, "since it is so difficult to know just what people really do see, I wouldn't hazard a professional opinion as to what they might have been."

"BLUISH-WHITE OBJECTS"

At the monthly meeting of the Astronomical group, which was attended by Mr. Campbell Thursday night, there was no mention of "flying saucers." The astronomers did briefly discuss recent and similar reports from the U.S., but came to no definite conclusion, the mathematician said.

F. Arnold Richards, retired electrical engineer of 14529 Summit Drive, who was first quoted as sighting the objects, sticks to his story.

"I saw three, equally-sized, bluish-white objects at 7:10 p.m. Thursday," he said, "and I would say they were heading northwest at perhaps 500 miles-an-hour, at a height between 8,000 and 30,000 feet."

He said he had just got off the bus and was walking towards his home when something "flashed on my glasses, and when I looked up, there they were." He described them as bluish-white and pear-shaped, with the tapered end first.

CHILDREN SEE "DISHPANS"

Third report came from Mrs. William Shields, Camp 550, who was informed of the occurrence by her son Billy, eight, and her daughter Lorraine, six-and-a-half.

She said she thought her children were "just imagining things" when they ran into the house shouting they had seen three objects that "looked like white dishpans" over the north side of the airport and travelling "very fast."

They saw the objects travelling southwest between 7:00 and 7:15 p.m., the youngsters said.

Reds Cut Off

HONG KONG, March 11—(UP) —The Communist tank force which seized Weichow Island, northwest of Hainan Island, earlier this week has been cut off from reinforcements by a Nationalist sea and air blockade, reports from Hainan said today.

These reports said Nationalist warships and planes were directing heavy fire against Communist positions on Weichow.

Edmonton Veterans Helped By Home Building Courses

By MAURY SOWARD
Bulletin Staff Writer

By next May, they will have graduated from the first class in house-building sponsored in Edmonton by the Veterans Land Act and will be ready to start work on their own homes.

The class at Victoria represents VLA's policy of assisting home-owning veterans with technical advice and also of protecting the public investment in their properties. Veterans get a grant of one-third the value of VLA houses and a 25-year loan on the remainder, except for a 10 per cent down payment.

"Many veterans living in remote areas without established contractors, were obliged to become their own builders," said W. R. Wiber, VLA Construction Superintendent for Alberta.

"Eventually some 80 per cent of the VLA houses in Canada were built by veteran-contractors."

EAGER STUDENTS

Although these homes were "an unqualified success," VLA decided they would help home-building veterans further this year by offering a free house-building short course. "It is intended first for the fellows who are going to build next for those in the process of building and finally for those who have already built," commented Mr. Wiber.

He organized the course in six Alberta centres in collaboration with Joe H. Hoss, director of Vocational Training in the province.

Harry Rygalo, 5703-118 avenue, who teaches the course in Edmonton, is enthusiastic about the eager students who meet in class and workshop twice a week at Victoria school.

A carpenter for 17 years, he said: "I like to pass my knowledge along, to see another fellow learn something that will be useful to him."

"And these fellows are a good bunch. They already know something about construction from what they've picked up and it keeps me on my toes staying ahead of them."

Planes Part Of Development

Airplanes will play an important transport role as Alberta's oil search moves into the far north, according to C. H. "Punch" Dickins, sales director of DeHaviland Aircraft of Canada Ltd.

Mr. Dickins is in Edmonton for a five-day business visit after a flight from Montreal in a company Beaver aircraft.

The former northland bush pilot said the Beaver plane is specifically designed for northland flying, such as will likely be done in future oil exploration.

The DeHaviland sales director planned to see Vice-President James Doolittle of Shell Oil Co., when the former U.S. Air Force general visits Edmonton this week-end.

WATCH YOUR MONEY; BOGUS BILLS ABOUT

Bogus $10 bills found in Calgary may turn up in Edmonton, citizens were warned Saturday by Police Chief Reg Jennings.

Report from Calgary was that nine "definitely counterfeit" $10 bills had been discovered there in the quarters of 32-year-old man identified by police as Theodore Wayne of Winnipeg.

JUST 24 HOURS

Day Tells Tale To Beat Liquor

(Following is another in a series of articles written for The Bulletin by a member of Alcoholics Anonymous):

When a man enters Alcoholics Anonymous he signs no documents, he makes no promises or pledges as to how long he will refrain from drinking.

All he is asked to do is to quit drinking for today.

"That 24-hour idea was the thing that sold me on A.A.," said Jim, a member for more than eight years.

NITE HIGH

"My drinking didn't get into high until I was around 30. I was living in the suburbs, with my wife and four kids.

"We got running around with a crowd that liked to drink. I got to like to drink, too. Soon they were calling me 'Jim the bartender,' because I was always helping the host mix the drinks.

"That way a fellow could nip off an extra one or two every time there was a round of drinks.

"But after I had arrived at several parties with a head of steam on, fallen flat on my face a couple of times, insulted a few hostesses, the crowd sort of eased us out.

TOLERANCE

"But I had plenty of other drinking friends, fellows I worked with, people I'd gone to school with, and so I did more drinking away from home.

"I had built up a good reputation in the business I'm in. Like a lot of organizations, there was some tolerance for drinking.

My employers began to grow restive. My wife was in despair. I began to think that I must be going crazy. Every Sunday I would resolve that this week will be different; and every week it was the same, drunk nearly every night.

"Then a drinking companion of mine went into Alcoholics Anonymous. Tales drifted back. It was some kind of a daffy cult. Then another of my drinking companions went in.

SENSE

Then for the first time the two of them sipping soft drinks, spoke up and told me about A.A. I don't know to this day what they said but it seemed to make sense and I agreed to go to a meeting.

It seemed like a long and dismal vista—40 years without a drink I mentioned this. Then it was the A.A.'s told me about the 24-hour idea. Why worry about tomorrow or next week or next month?

"So I concentrated on the thing one day at a time. I didn't sleep much those first three or four weeks, but wrestling with the thing one day at a time got me over the hump.

"And life began to be wonderful. I had forgotten there was such a thing as breakfast. I rediscovered it and it's still my favorite meal.

Rat Colony Check Proves Fruitless

Intensive Checks Made In Area Where One Found

Intensive investigation has uncovered no evidence that the rat killed this week in a downtown Edmonton building was a member of a colony, Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health, said Saturday.

"It's probably the old story of a single rat coming into the city on a freight car, because that's about the only place it could come from," he said.

AREA COMBED

Health inspectors have combed the Colonization building area on 101 street but no evidence of more rats has been found.

"There are a lot of underground steam pipes there, which makes it an ideal area for rats, but I can't imagine a colony getting started without someone seeing them," said Dr. Little.

"We have had no reports of rats from anywhere else in the city since last summer, when we had a good crop. Every one was checked and the animals were identified by J. H. Brown, provincial entomologist, mostly as pocket gophers, with the odd muskrat," he said.

"But there's plenty of evidence rats are on the way, and unless we follow Mr. Brown's advice and start helping Saskatchewan while the invasion line is still in that province, we are going to have a big battle on our hands," he added.

"Edmonton has a lot of old buildings that present an expensive problem in rat-proofing, and if rats establish themselves in them, it's going to be a holy terror. But we are on the trail of every report, and don't want to discount any report that may prove to be a rat," said Dr. Little.

Woman Is Held As Alarm Rings

Police believe they have brought to a halt a series of false alarms which have been plaguing the fire department over the past eight months, with the arrest Friday night of a woman.

Constable F. E. McDonald, who arrested the woman beside an alarm box at 97 street and 100 avenue at 11 p.m., said the alarm was still ringing when she was apprehended.

Police said most of the false alarms have been turned in from this vicinity.

Nolley said the money was lost near the Trocadero ballroom about 1:00 a.m. Friday.

Manslaughter Plea Is Made

Defence counsel W. G. K. Bloor yesterday completed his three-hour plea in appeals court for the life of Joseph Gilbert with a request to the panel of five justices to reduce the sentence to one of manslaughter.

Gilbert is scheduled to be hanged along with Edmonton Chinese Hong Suey Chin for the North Edmonton root house slaying of market gardener Sam Kee last Oct. 8.

The hearing has been adjourned to Tuesday when Crown Prosecutor W. J. Shortreed, KC, will resume his argument on the contention that there can be no intermediate verdict.

"BOTH EQUALLY GUILTY"

The prosecutor indicated his objective when he told the appeal judges that from the evidence recorded and the lack of direct evidence as to which one was responsible, "In their common enterprise and in the furtherance of that common enterprise both are guilty of murder and nothing but murder."

He contended that the pair had embarked that night specifically to rob Sam Kee.

Australia and Communism

Australia's positive and vigorous legislative assault on Communism might very well commend itself to the study of the Canadian government.

The legislation by which the government of Australia hopes to stamp out Communism forbids the following things:

1. It forbids a Communist to hold office in any union.

2. It forbids the existence of a Communist party, calling it an "alien and destructive pest".

3. It forbids Communists to hold federal jobs.

This forthright attempt to outlaw the 15,000 Communists of Australia is considered necessary because they exercise minority control over a number of vital trades unions.

There has been, of course, a terrific howl from demagogues over what they eloquently call a restriction of human freedom and a ban on human thought.

And one would have every sympathy with their viewpoint if Communism were only another political philosophy, dangerous though it might be in itself.

A man is entitled to believe as he pleases. Even the Church teaches the doctrine of free will which means that any man may be damned if he insists upon it.

But Communism is more than just a political philosophy. It is organized disloyalty. It is calculated treachery. It is deliberate treason. For any man is disloyal, treacherous and treasonable when he places the welfare of another country above his own.

Whether this argument would stand up philosophically we do not know. Presumably if a man has an inherent right to choose the devil as a master, he has an equal inherent right to lick the boots of Joseph Stalin.

But nations have always demanded loyalty from their citizens. The very cohesion of society depends on it.

And the security of an organized society, such as a nation, is one of the first laws of civilization.

Thus the Communists, in the very fact of being Communists and thus creatures of Soviet Russia, violate all principles of civilized usage.

Australia has taken a stand the logic of which can hardly be disputed.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

By Webster

A Federal Ban on Spring Knives

The city council and police department of Edmonton should lend their support to the resolution of the Toronto council which asks Justice Minister Garson to forbid the import and sale of spring-knives and stilletos.

These spring knives have figured prominently in Toronto and Vancouver juvenile crime. They have been in evidence in Edmonton.

Indeed, there is reason to believe that more than 300 of these abominable devices have already been sold to youths in this city.

The spring knife, which opens quickly with pressure of the finger which releases a spring, is an abominable weapon because it is intended and designed as an offensive weapon.

The only possible reason anyone would have for carrying one of these things is for quick offense or defense.

To whittle a stick, to scrape an electric wire, to cut a cord or to do any of the normal things that are done with a knife, the ordinary swing blade is quite good and quite fast enough.

The spring knife is intended to be an instrument of assault. There is no other reason for its existence.

Therefore the boy who carries one of these things carries it for exactly the same reason that a gangster carries a pistol.

It is intended for use on human beings.

There Is No Neutrality in Religion

One point that Lenten meditation should establish beyond question is the fact that Christ cannot be shut out of any Christian life.

One must either be Christian or anti-Christian. One must either accept Christ or be Christ's enemy.

There is no such thing as neutrality in religion.

And Christ Himself has said it plainly: "He that is not with Me is against Me."

This is so, not only because Christ said it, but because the very nature of the Christian Faith leaves no middle ground between the believer and the unbeliever.

One must either be of the world or of heaven. There is no other place to stand.

This truth is particularly important in these days when a pretended indifference to religion is the mark of the sophisticate.

So very frequently one hears a person say:

"I suppose religion is all right, but it is not for me. I am not a religious person."

There are millions today who say that it is not necessary to believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ, that our Lord was only an excellent teacher of ethics and that if one behaves decently towards one's neighbors there is nothing to worry about.

That is the most dangerous, the most pagan and the most anti-Christian view in this age.

For the purely worldly man is infinitely worse than the purely evil man.

The entirely evil man may be a worshipper of Satan. The entirely wordly man, that is to say the main stream conception of life begins and ends in this world, is a worshipper of the world. That means he is a worshipper of himself.

The most complete heathen is not the man who would destroy the world, but the man who entirely depends upon the world.

He who lives only for this world and believes in no other is the man who will commit any crime to remain in it.

He is not neutral in religion. He is the active enemy of Jesus Christ.

Letters to the Editor

Alcoholics Anonymous

Editor, Bulletin—I am very glad to see your paper print articles on alcoholism. You see I am a member of the Alcoholics Anonymous. I thank God and the A.A. for making me once more a good husband and clean, decent citizen. For many years I wasn't a very heavy drinker, but as in most cases, I became a heavier drinker. My wife and children spent many evenings alone while I spent the evening in a beer parlor, you know having a drink with the boys, for after all when a fellow works hard all day he's entitled to a few drinks, which end up being more than a few drinks. When I came home I was at times in a gay mood, but what wife likes to be greeted with a husband who reeks liquor. If not in a gay mood, well I hate to tell you what my wife had to go through and the children crying "Don't hit mama, daddy." "I hate my drunkard daddy; he's mean."

I could go two to three months without a drink which I did at times. The second time my wife mentioned the Alcoholics Anonymous to me, I told her I would go but I certainly wasn't promising I would give up drinking, but I went to please her at the time, because she was planning to leave me. When I walked into the Chapter house that night, I was greeted by a real swell bunch of fellows. No one questioned me as I thought they would. After the meeting was over and I came home, I knew I would go back there.

This was nearly two years ago. I will truthfully say at first I certainly missed my little old glass of beer, but as time went by I missed it less and less. My health has improved, also my wife's health, as I am afraid she had become a nervous wreck.

My children respect me and our home is a happier home. My drinking friends—oh I lost them, but I have gained new ones whom I am proud to know. My business is picking up, since I had to practically start all over again and God has been good to us. As for the Alcoholics Anonymous, I cannot enough recommend them to anyone who needs help.

Individual Solidarity

Editor, Bulletin.—Fifty years ago when I was living in the good old U.S.A. and people sang with great gusto "The land of the free and the home of the brave," those of us Britishers who had been brought up on "Britons never, never shall be slaves," and sang with "The land of the free and the home of the most abject slaves."

Since that time some progress has been made. The supreme court of the same good old U.S.A. ordered John L. Lewis to order his miners back to work. He (no doubt with his tongue in his cheek) did as he was ordered but nothing happened. The miners decided they were not going to be ordered about by anyone.

What a grand lesson in true democracy. Incidentally the boss soon got busy and gave them a contract; they could do nothing else in the face of such individual solidarity.

Licence For Cats

Editor, Bulletin—Last fall my daughter left her new bicycle leaning against the front of the house under our living room windows. At five o'clock when I went out to call them to supper I noticed it there, and at six when my son went out again the whole rod and handle bars had been stolen.

We immediately reported this to the city police. Within an hour of the time of the theft, they had all details; yet this was never investigated or looked into. Being new in the district at that time, we got no place trying to find out anything ourselves. The city police must have thought this too unimportant to bother about. Yet they can spend lots of time hounding dogs.

I notice in the Bulletin that three men were fined again for letting the poor dog out for a walk unchaperoned. What possible damage can they cause now? In summer they can be a bother on gardens, etc. But in winter can't they be allowed a little freedom? We are forced to buy a dog license costing us two dollars a year.

They talk about dictatorship. It looks to me like we have plenty of it right here.

Also, while I'm on the subject, how about a licence for cats? That may put a stop to some of those all night sing-songs we experience at this time of year.

Ignorant, Prejudiced

Editor, Bulletin—In regard to letters signed "Irish" and "English," if these poor helpless souls cannot compete with the DP's for jobs, why don't they return to Ireland and England? Probably because over there, they would be regarded as DP's.

These two ignorant and prejudiced correspondents appear to have overlooked the fact the DP's came here to escape dictatorship in their home countries and the least we so-called democrats can do is to welcome them and not crab because the new-comers have the guts and brains to obtain jobs while "Irish" and "English" stand by with narrow minds and carping criticism.

County Council

Editor, Bulletin — I should like to bring to your attention, and to the attention of your readers, a matter of extreme importance to education. The government has introduced a county act by which rural school and hospital boards will be abolished and their duties taken over by a municipal or county council. Under this plan I believe that education will suffer a severe blow and I suspect that hospital and municipal affairs will also lose. When education and hospitals have to compete for finances and the attention of elected representatives with roads, utilities and garbage collection, education administration is bound to suffer.

To forestall united opposition from the people the government will use four arguments:

(1) The plan will be voluntary. (However, the act does not make it voluntary but gives the cabinet the power to force this.)

(2) The plan is experimental and will be tried in one area only. (But experience has shown this method to be merely the thin edge of the wedge.)

(3) There will be a school committee of the county council. (But this is just a committee and not a school board.)

(4) That it does not apply to the cities. (But already Calgary and Edmonton city officials are commencing to urge its adoption in the cities.)

I am sure this is a backward step. The government may succeed in making this change by the suggested piecemeal method of introduction. For people not immediately affected may not protest until it is too late. Persons who agree with me that this is perhaps the most dangerous proposal that has ever been made with regard to education should, I suggest, at once inform organizations and through letters to the Premier. To be effective all parts of the province, which will ultimately be affected, should protest at the same time. This should be done immediately before the act is passed by this Session.

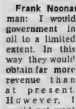
THE QUESTION:

Should the province of Alberta go into oil production?

THE ANSWERS:

Albert Huff, 8805 - 111 St.: broker: I am convinced the government is pursuing the proper policy. It is assured of substantial revenue without risk.

Frank Noonan, Camrose, salesman: I would like to see the government in oil to a limited extent. In this way they would obtain far more revenue than at present. However, I would not want government monopoly as this would be inefficient.



Alex Morris, 9932 - 107 Street, lawyer: The government should handle oil the same as they did land in the old days, when they divided it. I suggest the government should retain mineral rights on one quarter of all lands in the province. I understand that is what they are now doing in Saskatchewan.

Lena Slobada, 9640 - 82 Ave., secretary: I certainly think they should. The big oil companies spent a lot of money to find this oil, so they should be allowed to make a profit, but why should they take almost all of it?

S. H. Pirot, 10436 - 70 Avenue, chartered accountant: Definitely I think they should go as much as suggested they might go into production. It would immediately cut off all outside capital. It is only fair to those speculators who have spent so much that they should derive the benefit, or the losses.

Workers Need Work Not Idleness Pay

Mr. Richard P. Smith of New Westminster is a fully employed man who has a thoughtful plan to defeat unemployment. He would share the employment—and the unemployment.

He would have parliament pass a law "that when 5 percent or more of workers are unemployed a similar percentage of shift cuts be introduced to absorb them."

Even if this resulted in cutting everybody down to the three or four-day week Mr. Smith thinks the country would be better off.

"Everyone would be paying his or her own way instead of one man being taxed to feed another who is receiving direct relief or leaning on a shovel on some out-of-the-way highway."

Right Track

It seems to me that Mr. Smith is on the right track, but that his shorter - hours - for - everybody would not have the desired result. In result it would mean sharing scarcity, not abundance.

Certainly it would be better to have the burden of unemployment shared by the whole nation. But in effect the plan would result in sharing one job among two or more men or women.

What we want is "full employment." We want a full time, steady job for every man, woman or youth in the country who wants to work and needs to work. We want full pay, fair pay, not half-pay.

All the nations who are members of the United Nations solemnly promised to promote such full employment. A board of UN experts recently drew up a clear-cut plan whereby each nation could carry out its pledge if it meant to do so.

But so far Canada has refused in actual practice to do in peace-time what she does in wartime, namely, supplement private enterprise by enough public enterprise to secure the full employment goal.

Private Business

Recently Prime Minister St. Laurent told a delegation of trade unionists that the government would not embark on any large public works scheme this year as private business expects to absorb most unemployed workers.

I believe Mr. St. Laurent is wrong—that we shall soon find that private profit-and-loss business can never again give steady full-time employment year after year. I believe that no matter what party is in power in Canada we shall soon have to adopt a scientific full employment program. Under this principle private enterprise would have first chance to deliver the jobs. But to the extent that private business fell down on the job that is, failed to provide full employment, the government would step into the picture exactly as in wartime.

There would be a National Employment Board which would always keep fully planned and waiting a "shelf of public works." These could be undertaken according to priority of their likelihood to pay their way.

For instance, that natural gas pipeline that private business interests are now wrangling about could have been built in the "dirty thirties" as part of the public employment list. It would have paid for itself long ago.

As Jack Stanforth of Powell River writes, "what we need today is not an insurance policy that keeps a man in idleness but one that can provide him with work."

Canada Requires More Immigrants

Canadian immigration has fallen to a low ebb. We had 644 arrivals in December against 3,396 in the same month in 1948. The intensive immigration plans of Ontario have dissolved. The federal department seems very quiet. The Alberta project no longer holds our attention.

This, of course is natural. We have unemployment and there are many groups that oppose further encouragement of immigration on the ground that it will take jobs from Canadians.

A number of Canadian leaders have expressed concern over the ebb in immigration, yet the majority seems to accept the idea that it is in our interests to keep new citizens out of Canada.

This is an extremely foolish notion. Immigration has nothing to do with unemployment. When you compare the employment trends with the immigration figures and the national income, you discover that there is no similarity.

In 1921 employment was far below average, the national income was a low $399 per capita, yet immigration was also fairly low, 91,728. In 1922 employment figures were also bad, national earnings, however, had increased to $412 and immigration had fallen to 64,224.

Greater Employment

In 1927 employment was above average, national income was also higher at $492, but immigration increased that year to 158,886. In 1928, employment was still higher, the national income was up to $536, and immigrants numbered 166,783.

In years when we were most prosperous, and unemployment was lowest; we were receiving record numbers of immigrants.

Look at the other side. In 1933 Canada reached its lowest point. Our national income fell that year to $256 per capita and immigration figures disclose a total of 12,476 immigrants. This 1933 immigration represented less than 10% of 1927, yet that did not prevent unemployment reaching record proportions.

In 1939 employment was back up above average, per capita earnings had improved, yet immigration that year totalled 16,994. You see, we have unemployment when thousands come to Canada; we have worse unemployment when only a few arrive here; we have a high level of employment when hundreds of thousands are arriving; we have a high level of employment when only a few thousand arrive.

It is simply impossible to blame immigration with either our state of employment or our economic condition. Those things have causes, but these causes do not include immigration.

We have building contractors wanting men in one area, while construction workers in another area are objecting that immigration will end their jobs.

We have farmers needing medical men and we have medical men who seem to deplore the importation of doctors.

We have skilled artisans being needed in certain areas, yet we are also told that it will be fatal if we bring in any more.

We have complaints that there are certain types of work that will not be accepted by workers, yet there is a complaint if immigrants are permitted to take those jobs.

Only One Reason

We are all human. We all hope to preserve our own type of employment and we all fear that anyone will come to Canada who can compete with us. That is the only reason so many object to immigration. It is a false reason.

We need many more people in Canada. We can use many more people to develop our resources and our country. With those added citizens, we would have larger local markets for our goods and would be less dependent upon exports. Our taxes could be spread over a larger number with more people that like might lessen the load. We still have plenty of room in a world where many areas are crowded.

We don't want pitfcraft. We only want good solid citizens who can become good useful Canadians. The Federal Government is right to refuse to bring in anyone.

The Alberta Government is following a good policy in being selective as to who it will assist. But with those qualifications, this matter of immigration should not be allowed to die. We need a vigorous immigration policy. We need to consider financial measures which will enable British people to come to Canada in spite of their inability to bring enough money with them.

We could well afford to take over their sterling holdings and advance them the dollars they need. This is an important aspect of Canadian development and it is a health portion. Let's keep it developing.

ODDS AND ENDS

Mixed Drinking in Beer Parlors No Minor Issue

Premier Manning is said to have brushed aside the requests and petitions for the institution of mixed drinking in Edmonton and Calgary beer parlors as having to do with a matter of minor importance.

WEIR

It appears to be his view that there are too many major issues before the government to permit the government to waste time debating the propriety and desirability of men and women drinking beer together.

I think Premier Manning is wrong.

I think the matter of human freedom is never too small to take precedence over anything else.

And while mixed drinking may be a minor item in human freedom, it still belongs to the general category of human freedom and, that being so, it cannot be dismissed as an appeal of little or no consequence.

I think the people of Edmonton and Calgary are entitled to say what they want done about mixed drinking in their cities and I think the government should respect their decision.

No Beer Drinker

Let me say as an exordium to this discourse, that I have no personal interest whatever in beer parlors. I have been in these institutions twice, I believe, in the past ten years.

I derive no inspiration from the beer parlor atmosphere. It bores me and depresses me. I do not care for beer.

But, whatever my personal preferences may be, I will insist to my last breath that the many excellent and intelligent people who do enjoy beer and who do derive some social lift from the fine camaraderie of the beer parlor have every right to gratify their taste under the best possible conditions and in the broadest possible liberty.

That means that they should be able to drink their beer, if they so desire, with their womenfolk.

The consumption of beer, like the consumption of any other alcoholic concoction, should be a social occasion, and not a grim experiment in internal chemistry.

One drinks castor oil in private because the purpose of drinking castor oil and the consequences of drinking castor oil are of exceedingly private implications.

When the drinking of beer is reduced to the level of a course of catharsis, puritanism achieves its final victory.

Towns, Cities

I have heard it argued, in defense of mixed drinking in cities, that it mixed drinking is regarded as proper in small towns and villages. It must also be regarded as proper in Edmonton and Calgary.

It cannot be right in one place and wrong in the other.

That argument is not entirely true because the nature of a city's population tends to differ sharply from the nature of a town's population.

There is no criminal and underworld fringe in the small town as there is in the city. And the small town does not have to cope with other social problems which frequently associate themselves with the excessive consumption of alcohol.

But this is entirely a matter of control.

The operator of any beer parlor who cannot keep his premises from becoming a place of assignation for loose women has no business to operate anything.

Harsh Cure

What irks me primarily about this ban on mixed drinking is that it offers an excessively harsh and unduly severe treatment for a very small social ailment.

To put the lid on all mixed drinking in beer parlors because mixed drinking in some beer parlors leads towards undesirable conditions is like cutting a man's head off because he has a toothache.

The issue of mixed drinking in beer parlors is exactly the same issue as prohibition.

Mixed drinking is sometimes abused, therefore no man and woman, however respectable, may drink together in public.

It is precisely the same thing as it would be in the instance of a physician who, having failed to cure one case of measles, went around shooting everybody who developed a rash.

What we want is not the curtailment of human freedom in beer parlors, but a stricter control of beer parlors.

Trivia

Canadians smoke approximately sixteen billion cigarettes a year, and pay $170,000,000 in federal taxes on these cigarettes.

Gag-a-Day Ragaway Has Own Ideas On Hollywood

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to the Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, March 11.—(BUP)—Martin Ragaway, who figured one way to get ahead in Hollywood was to become the local wit, reported today his method works fine. It also backfires.

Now everybody calls him "Gag-a-Day Ragaway" and he's knocking himself out living up to it and carrying on his job as a film writer.

Radio stars call up on dull days for clever cracks. Gossip columnists pester him for "bright sayings." Even Ragaway's boss expects him to be funny 24 hours a day.

IT'S A STRAIN

Often this 27-year-old ex-writer for Milton Berle manages to deliver. But it's a strain. It's getting so bad every once in a while he commits the unpardonable — to Ragaway—sin. He writes down his clever sayings.

"Just once in a while," he confessed. "When nobody's around to pick 'em up.

"Take the other day. I was talking to a movie starlet and it just came to me that her legs are so pretty they oughta be in a sweater. I told her so. But nobody else heard it. So I had to jot it down and repeat it to the press agent when he came around."

The press agent knew how to take it from there. He called a chit-chat columnist. The next day another Ragaway gag was going the rounds.

Ragaway thinks this one of his better gags:

"Hollywood's the place where they give you a choice—you can either star in a technicolor epic or a movie with a plot."

U.K. Theatres Soon To Show More U.S. Films

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Britain today increased by one-sixth the number of American feature films which movie houses may show here beginning Oct. 1.

The board of trade reduced the quota of British feature films which must be screened in British shows from 40 per cent to 30 per cent.

American films, formerly limited to 60 per cent of the feature picture time, would be given 70 per cent under the new plan.

The 40-per-cent quota originally was established to guarantee a market for British-made films.

The British movie makers have been reeling under financial setbacks recently. Many of them have sharply cut back production plans.

Cowpoke Role Helps Actors, Jimmy Says

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to The Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, March 11.—(BUP)—Every Hollywood actor should play a movie cowboy at least once a year, Jimmy Stewart said today. The role keeps a gent from getting neurotic.

There's nothing like a little game of Cowboys and Indians to keep a movie profile from getting too big for its britches, Stewart said.

"It does something for an actor," drawled the lanky gent whose frame is custom-built for skin-tight blue jeans. "You take off your tux or your British tweeds and crawl into a pair of chaps and a gun belt and . . . well . . . all of a sudden something happens to you inside."

"No kidding," he said. "Getting out on the open plains with a rifle and a western hat is good for a man. Sort of restores his balance between the everyday world of modern movies and the world of the sagebrush."

Stewart thinks too many Hollywood heroes turn up their Grecian profiles at roolid-toolie' western roles, believing they're beneath the talents of a he-man lover.

"Heck," said Stewart. "Those are the kind of guys I call the 'drawing room boys.' They've balanced a cup of tea on one knee and a blonde on the other so long they don't want to try anything else."

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Like most major industries, the movies are faced with the problem of retirement of workers.

What happens to a worker when his years of usefulness are over? That question is becoming more and more important on the social scene. Movie stars offer a unique and interesting sidelight to this problem.

Only one studio, MGM, has a full scale plan for taking care of its stars in their old age. However, only a favored few of its stars come under the retirement program.

Most other stars are not so fortunate, rarely do actors stay at one studio more than 10 years and thus come into a position where the studio might possibly feel responsible for their future.

Stars are largely responsible for their own destinies. They earn large salaries for a peak of five years on the average. They have to save what they can from income taxes and expenses.

It is not easy for anyone to shed tears over the financial plight of movie stars. But to the stars themselves, decline from fame is a real problem, not only moneywise, but psychologically as well. Imagine if you were universally acclaimed and then suddenly not wanted.

Let me cite some examples in our time:

WHAT NOW

Star "A" was a wartime sensation. Due to bad parts and the fragile nature of his talents, he fell from favor as fast as he climbed. His box office value was nil and he was dropped by his studio. He has done a few quickies and some vaudeville. But what does he do now?

Star "B" was a beauty queen for more than a decade. Her well exposed body made up for her lack of acting ability. But now she's in her late 30s and younger lovelies have taken her place. What does she do now?

Fear Reduced Jobs, PM Advises Labor

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday Canadians have no reason to be pessimistic about the future.

He said a delegation from the Canadian and Catholic confederation of labor there is every reason to believe Canada's development will continue at an accelerated rate.

FEAR IS CONTAGIOUS

If Canadians in all ranks of society maintained confidence in the future, he was sure that economic activity would continue at a high level. But pessimism could help to cause recession.

He said that when there was a recession in the United States last May and June, some private enterprise firms feared it was the forerunner of a depression and began cutting inventories. Their fears, which proved to be unfounded, had been responsible for some of the unemployment in Canada this winter.

The delegation, headed by Gerard Picard, president of the CCCL, and Jean Marchand, secretary of the union, represents about 90,000 workers, particularly in Quebec.

NO RELIEF WORKS

In the address, delivered in French, Mr. St. Laurent said also:

1. The government feels it should not undertake public works projects this year to relieve unemployment.

2. The government could not inaugurate compulsory military training in peacetime—opposed by the union—unless defence expenditures were much greater than the $425,000,000 proposed for 1950-51.

3. While he believes it would be advantageous for Canada to have a representative at the vatican, he did not think the appointment should be made at a time when it would stir up a religious controversy in this country.

4 Adoption of a national flag and a national anthem would have to wait until there was more general agreement on what they should comprise.

5. The labor department now is studying an immigration plan, which it believes will be advantageous to Canada.

6. The government is as anxious as the individual to maintain the economy at a high level because it needs revenue to pay for defence and social security costs.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

God And The Sinner

A mother of 13 children was being interviewed by a social worker gathering data on the misery of large families. The last question she was asked was: "Which of your children do you love most?"

Without any hestitation, the mother replied: "The one who is sick until he gets well, the one who is away until he gets home."

These sincere and beautiful words might very well be used to describe how God pursues with a special yearning those of His children who are sick with sin or have rejected Him and gone the way of disbelief.

When a man sins he becomes spiritually sick. He creates a barrier between himself and God. But God's love is so patient and enduring that He never ceases to hover over the afflicted soul and to offer every chance of reconciliation and spiritual regeneration. Scripture itself says there is more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner who repents than over 99 just who need not penance.

No one knows the mysterious ways in which God works to redeem the sinner. It is certain, however, that He makes particular use of other men and women whose hearts, like His own, are touched by the desolation and torment which is the lot of the sinner.

Every true follower of Christ must be His co-worker in the cause of redeeming and saving souls. He is obliged to show an especial love toward those who are in the grip of sin. He must demonstrate this love by kindness, sympathy and interest. While he can never condone the sin, he must be ever ready to help the sinner; to counsel him; to plead and argue, if necessary, so that the errant may at last perceive his own sickness and turn for help to the Divine Physician.

The good example of the faithful Christian may in the beginning evoke only the gibes and scorn of the very one he wants to help. But he need never be discouraged; love is the most powerful force in the world and it always prevails in the end. There will assuredly come the moment when the sinner over whom he has prayed and sought to redeem will be touched to repentance and be ready gratefully to prostrate himself before the Great Healer.

COME TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

Bissell CGIT Gives Novel Entertainment

Bissell CGIT group came up with a perfectly new kind of program this week when they presented a toy town program.

They sang toy songs, such as The Teddy Bear Dance, The Wedding of the Painted Doll, Toyland, Cockernuts, and others. Mackie Nimeck and Lilly Nimeck presented a burlesque on Romeo and Juliet in the balcony scene. Evelyn Kuzyk tap-danced.

Fun contests took place, including balloon-blowing, hog-calling, corn-flake eating, and a toy-quiz. Rev. J. T. Stephens showed two toyland talkies, and everybody enjoyed an evening of good clean fun.

Mrs. J. T. Stephens was in charge of the evening, and those taking part included Helen Warner, Alberta Warner, Irene Horne, Jean Nakamura, Rita Walker, Josie Burke, Doreen Graham, Evelyn Kuzyk, Grace Jones, Don Castor and John Kuzyk.

Robert Smith presided at the piano throughout.

The gymnasium was well filled for the occasion and all present voted it something new and very enjoyable.

Dedication Ceremony Set For Organ Chimes

A few years ago a Minshall organ was presented to the Bissell church by Reg Milhaaits in memory of his wife, Sumeko, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Uyehara of Edmonton.

Recently, Mrs. Uyehara presented a set of organ chimes to supplement the organ, in memory of her husband, who died in 1945.

These chimes will be dedicated on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in a very appropriate service, "When the Chimes Rang" by the minister, Rev. J. T. Stephens.

Mr. Iwasita will present the chimes to the church on behalf of the family. The Japanese members of the congregation will sing an appropriate selection, in Japanese.

INTIMATE FRIEND

The dedicatory sermon will be preached by Rev. F. McCall, DD, who has been an intimate friend of the family as well as great friend of the mission.

The organist, Mr. R. Smith, will present, with the choir, appropriate selections for the occasion, including music on the chimes themselves. The chimes, and the amplifiers have been installed outside of the chapel proper, and the music will channel through an aperture provided.

The Bissell congregation is very happy to receive the gift which makes a very beautiful sanctuary even more lovely.

New Baptist Church Opens

Bethel Baptist Church of the Alberta Baptist Conference will hold its first meeting in the new church at 7120-109 street on April 2.

When complete the church will cost an estimated $30,000. The structure is of simple but modern architecture and will provide large auditoriums both upstairs and downstairs and a nursery where parents will be able to enjoy the meetings and still look after their children.

The new building will also feature Sunday School facilities, a pastor's study and choir room.

For the past three years a growing Sunday School has been conducted in the Queen Alexandra School building.

Rev. George Beckstrom and family arrived here from the United States last December. Rev. Beckstrom was pastor of Quamba Baptist Church in Minnesota.

Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which you birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 12, 1950

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Very pleasant, benefic influences prevail today. Can be a gala period for meeting social and family functions, charity affairs—yes, and necessary work. Remember spiritual duties!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Invigorating, encouraging for your own and family's interests. Tasks can be accomplished quickly, then time for your favorite relaxation! Go to church; enjoy the good little things.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—You who must write, plan or do other work can enjoy and benefit by it here. Make time for religious services, even if you must sacrifice some other desire —you will be blessed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Quiet meditation, a half hour or more in church close to God, and you will be happier, more sucessful with all activities, interests. Spiritual contentment makes one strong, fearless.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Keep your grip on God's work and you won't lose out in the things necessary for your well-being. And remember, the right road is the easiest one in the end—less complications, more security.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Stars kind to you today, stressing happiness, serenity—for attending to right things and not overdoing in work or matters that would keep you from prayer, resting.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Been wanting to improve a talent of hobby. Here's your day. But do not offend God or put your better self by indulging anything contrary to His will. Enjoy good reading, friends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Put all your troubles away and smile. Be happy this promising, generous Sunday. You can even enjoy difficult tasks if they are on your schedule. Join children in fun.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Less stimulating for business and finances than was yesterday, but pleasantly favorable, mostly for religious services, gathering of friends, relaxing diversion. Show your personality at its best.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your planet, Saturn, in major benefic aspect today, should mean smiles, happy effort. First of all, pray for guidance and thank God for all His blessings. Your endeavors honored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Head Sagittarius for sound hints. You can have contentment and good fortune, too, if you follow God's and nature's laws. Start anew today—it's never too late for hope.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Neptune's configuration, not all friendly, suggests extra care in maritime interests, sea travel, also in strictly confidential matters. Otherwise today is favorable. Pray; have fun.

You Born Today—Sympathetic, affectionate, considerate. May be considered methodical, but are innately artistic and intuitive; make excellent lawyers, judges, physicians. Often too self-effacing for own advancement. Modesty is a grand quality to have, but you must also exploit your God-given talents. Aid good causes with your fine managerial ability. Set a high goal in business or in your trade —you can reach it. Be more aggressive at times. 1950 holds high promise for you. Birthdater George Berkeley, Irish bishop, philosopher

FOR MONDAY, MARCH 13, 1950

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Unseen powers often are important in our lives, and we should be aware of them as we react. Have no foolish illusions. Be realistic, sensible always. It's safest way.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Stars argue for careful study of each act before going ahead. Don't let anything or anyone sway you pressure-wise. Use your own intelligent way, cope with daily problems. Youth with, too.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Don't put all plans in one train of thought; there are several avenues to work from today. Express yourself gently, tactfully, and be co-operative for solid success.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—You may be confronted with tasks that can return good or adverse results. Think well before acting and, if in doubt, consult wise counsel, loved ones. That judgment may be it!

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Restive early in day that steady effort and careful action will gain most in long run. Steer clear of unpleasant personal or legal discussion. Some advancement can always be made.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—That something which urges you on, or restrains you at another time, should be analyzed thoughtfully. Stars favor an optimistic, conservative outlook until matters are well understood.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Subtle influences in the air today. Keep your mind sufficiently on routine, well-planned issues. Challenge the questionable approach or statement. Be accurate.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Some pressure from outside today. More favorable aspects, too, to cheer worthy efforts onward. Don't be high-keyed for the ordinary routine; it tends toward tension, "nerves."

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your outlook has many fine new possibilities now. Do your best in offering your services; work helpfully. Romance and family honored.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Stars' influences inspiring. Don't be over-serious. Or have that too-practical attitude. Considerable headway possible in usual business, professional and daily duties.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) —Opportunity, at least a media for the one who works for it. Honest, sturdy tries will bring good results. Understand what you tackle. Head up; think logically.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Opportunity is knocking at your door today). Are you ready, alert and going to use it where possible? Some profitable openings made to order; press forward and give this day a good try.

You Born Today—Cautious, determined, intelligent, can concentrate thoroughly on a subject or task if you so desire. Curb any tendency to overindulge pleasures or to associate with persons of unknown character. You persons of unknown character. You are happiest and at your best when usefully occupied. Study and pray daily; in free hours enjoy wholesome, worthy friends. Some very beneficial trends for Piscans in 1950. Fresh opportunity to increase personal assets. Keep in tune with all good; stay cheerful always. Birthdate: St. Augustine, great leader in the Catholic church; Joe Priestley, noted chemist; Jack Lait, editor, author.

Reactions Mixed To Vatican Decree

Protestant Leaders Regret End To Informal Discussions

There were mixed reactions this week in Protestant circles here and abroad to the new Vatican decree on reunion discussions, which is generally regarded as one of the most significant documents issued by the Roman Catholic church in recent history.

Entitled "Instructions to Local Ordinaries About the Ecumenical Movement," the document released by the Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office in Rome stipulated that in the future all discussions on religious matters between Catholics and non-Catholics must be controlled and directed by the local bishop.

The decree stated that inter-diocesan or international discussions would still require direct Papal approval, and defined reunion strictly in the sense of a return of all dissidents to the Roman Catholic Church.

SEEMED DISAPPOINTED

Protestant leaders appeared to be disappointed over what they interpreted as a Vatican directive putting an end to informal discussions on church reunion. Such discussions have been taking place for a number of years between Catholic and Protestant clergymen and laymen, especially in Europe.

On the other hand, there appears to be satisfaction among Protestants that the Holy Office has given clear sanction to Catholics who wish to join with those of other faiths in common efforts to combat the forces of irreligion and to promote the general welfare.

Although actually constituting an incidental feature of the Vatican declaration, this go-ahead gesture means in effect that the Holy See is actively seeking a coalition of Catholic and non-Catholic forces "to halt the spread of anti-religious movements and to help eradicate injustices in the social order.

DEFEND PRINCIPLES

This phase of the Holy Office decree was underscored by Vatican officials themselves. They said the document was issued primarily to rally all Christian forces in defense of fundamental Christian principles and not to bring about meetings to achieve Christian religious unity through compromises.

The Vatican officials also stressed that authorized meetings of Catholics regarding Catholic tenets and dogmas as well as to examine the possibilities of reunion.

Negro Rector Made Canon

BUFFALO, N.Y.—Dr. Osmond H. Brown, Negro rector of St. Philip's church here, was appointed an honorary canon of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the first of his race to be named to this post in the history of the Diocese of Western New York.

The high honor is conferred on Episcopal and Anglican clergymen for faithful or distinguished service.

Announcing the appointment, the Rt. Rev. Lauriston L. Scaife, bishop of the Diocese of Western New York, said it resulted from Dr. Brown's "great contributions to the life of the Church and the community."

Dr. Brown, who has been rector of a Negro parish for twenty-six years, is the seventh honorary canon to be appointed in his diocese.

Catholic Ads Bring Many Inquiries

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—A total of 403,315 requests for information about Roman Catholicism has been received by the Knights of Columbus as a result of its advertising program, it was announced here.

Officials of the Catholic lay organization said 27,923 persons had been enrolled for Catholic instruction by mail through advertisements published in a number of newspapers and magazines.

The advertising campaign started in February, 1948.

"No other activity of the Knights of Columbus has won such widespread commendation and approval as has the Catholic Advertising Program," said Luke E. Hart, chairman of the Catholic Advertising Committee of the Supreme Council of the K. of C.

He said the advertisements, which appeared in this country and Canada, had brought 7,021 requests for information from foreign countries.

More than 500 persons outside the continental U.S. and Canada have enrolled in the study course. One of the requests for information came from Russia.

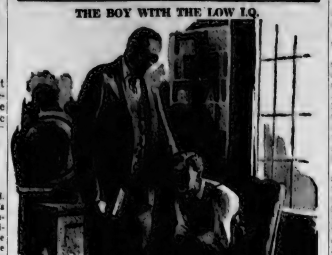
FULTON OURSLER Modern Parables

THE BOY WITH THE LOW I.Q.



Fulton Oursler

Dear Friends and Gentle Hearts:

One of the worse evils of today is the exaggerated importance given to so-called intelligence tests. Many other qualities besides agility in answering trick questions go into the making of human personality. A man can fail all the tests and make a wonderful life. Let me tell you what happened to a Canadian boy.

Call him Johnnie Marvin. He was the son of a carpenter and a housekeeper. They lived frugal lives saving their money for the day when they could send their son to college. In my opinion, he a waste of your time."

The boy buried his face in his hands.

"This will be hard on my mother and father," he said. "Their one idea is for me to be a college man."

The psychologist laid a hand on the boy's shoulder.

"People have different kinds of talents, Johnnie," he said. "There are painters who never were able to learn the multiplication table and engineers who can't sing on key. But everyone of us has something special—and you are no exception. Someday you will find what your special gift is. And when you do, you will make your parents proud of you."

Johnnie never went back to school. Jobs were scarce in the town but he managed to keep busy mowing the lawns of the householders and puttering in their flower beds. And then a curious thing happened. Before long his customers began to notice that Johnnie had what they called a "green thumb." The plants he tended grew and blossomed and the rose trees bloomed. He fell into the habit of making suggestions for rearranging the tiny front yard landscapes. He had an instinct for color and could make surprising combinations that pleased the eye.

One day while he was downtown he happened to notice a stretch of unused land behind the city hall. Chance or fate or whatever you may like to call it brought one of the town's selectmen around the corner just at that moment. Impetuously the boy asked if he could make a garden out of this dump if you'll let me."

"This town's got no money for frills," said the selectman.

"I don't want any money for it," said the boy. "I just want to do it."

The selectman being a politician was astounded to find anyone who did not want money, under any and all circumstances. He took Johnnie into an office and when the young man came out he had the authority to clean up the public eyesore. That very afternoon, he borrowed extra tools, and seed and soil. Someone gave him a few young trees to plant. When others heard Johnnie had reached the second year in high school when the blow fell.

A psychologist attached to the school, called the young man, just reached 16 into his private office and this lawsuit he said:

"Johnnie, I've been studying your marks and I've gone over your various tests in motor and sensory impressions, your physical examination—I've made a very careful study of you and your achievements."

"I've been trying hard," put in Johnnie.

"That's just the trouble," said the psychologist. "You have worked too hard, indeed—but it has not helped. You don't seem able to get ahead in your studies. You're just not cut out for it—and for you to remain in high school would, in of it they offered rose bushes and even a hedge. Then the town's leading manufacturer heard of it, and he volunteered to supply some benches.

Before long the bleak old dump had become a little park. There were grassy lawns and little curving walks and restful seats and little houses for the birds. All the town people were talking about what a lovely improvement the young man had made. But it was also a kind of show window for Johnnie. People saw the result of his skill and knew him for a natural landscape gardener.

That was 25 years ago. Today, Johnnie is the head of a prosperous business in landscape gardening. His customers extend into neighboring provinces.

Johnnie still cannot speak French nor translate Latin; trigonometry is unknown to him. But color and light and lovely prospects are his bread and butter. His aging parents are proud of Johnnie, for he is not only a success, a man of affairs and a member of the best clubs in his town—he has also made his part of the world a lovelier place to live in. Wherever he and his men go, they spread beauty before the eyes of people.

Trends in Toddler Transportation

Regular Check of Wiring Urged for Safety's Sake

By Bob Scharff

Every extension cord in your home is a compromise between safety and convenience. Therefore, before they give real trouble, check and repair any damaged ones you spot.

Repairing a frayed cord or replacing a broken plug is both simple and good insurance. If the insulation is broken, but not the wires, remove the cord from the wall socket and cut off the worn covering.

DEALING WITH BREAK

If the wire is broken, cut out the damaged section and remove the covering for about 2 inches back on each of the cut ends. Scrape wire ends bright, twist together and wrap with rubber and friction tape. To add strength to a joint, offset the two splices slightly rather than have them side by side.

Many modern wall plugs cannot be repaired and must be replaced. Replacement male plugs are available at hardware stores as are the type already on older lamps. For loose cords in this type of plug, remove the fiber shield and tighten the screws.

To replace a broken plug or cord, push the cord through the cap from the rounded side. Take off the outside braid of the cord for an inch from the end, exposing the two separate covered strands of wire inside.

Cut the insulation from these wires and scrape them bright. Tie an underwriter's knot in the wires where the insulation ends and pull it against the plug shoulder. Run each wire clockwise around a prong and a binding screw. Be sure there is no contact between the bare wires.

TURN OFF SWITCH

On the other end of an extension cord is a female plug or tap, in which loose and broken wires are repaired in much the same manner as in a plug. But, before working on a tap be sure the main house switch is turned off.

The tap is opened by removing the screws or small bolts that hold its two parts together and the spring contacts and binding screws will be exposed for repair work.

Care must be exercised when using extension cords too.

1. Never jerk an extension cord from an outlet by pulling on the cord. Always grip the plug.
2. Never run cords where they can be stepped on.
3. Never allow a cord to become pinched or kinked.
4. Never nail cords to the floor or wall and keep them away from radiators and other metal equipment which might become electrified.

BRICKS LAID MORE EASILY

Q—In laying bricks, is it all right to use plain cement and water without putting sand in the mortar?—H. A.

A—No. Use a mortar consisting of 2 or 3 parts of clean, sharp sand to each part of cement. This mix will give less shrinkage and a stronger bond.

New Hand Saw Very Versatile

Great Care Needed To Get Value From Piano

How many people that own a piano really know how to look after it so as to get the maximum amount of value out of this most expensive piece of home furnishing?

As someone once said, "buying a piano is like taking a wife, you can never afford to get another," and yet so often one see's a piano being ill treated simply through lack of knowledge about what is good for the instrument.

One of the most damaging things for a piano is sudden change of temperature, not only does it have a bad effect on the tone, but it also plays havoc with the woodwork.

Point one to remember then, is don't place the piano up against hot water pipes, radiators, hot air registers, and because of danger from damp keep it away from a basement recreation room. The ideal place is against an inside wall with a good gap of say six inches between wall and piano to allow the air to circulate freely.

The next point to remember is that humidity plays an important part in the life and performance of your piano. A piano needs a certain amount of moisture, but under the conditions resulting from the extreme changes of seasons it will be found that in the summer the wooden soundboard absorbs a certain amount of moisture which causes it to swell, with the result that your piano will raise in pitch because the strings have been put under tension.

The MUDLARK

By Theodore Bonnet

Synopsis: Wheeler, the Mudlark is still in jail for slipping into Windsor Castle. Slattery, the arrow-minded palace candlelighter has been banished to America by embarassed fellow Irishmen. Lady Emily Prior is still held virtual prisoner by Queen Victoria. And her fiance, poor Lieut. McFatten, has been shipped off to India. True love, like the fate of empire, never runs smoothly. Meanwhile the Wheeler Case is coming before the House of Commons. Now go on with the story—

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

A cold and stately little chamber, the House of Commons, in the Tudor Gothic style, elaborately panelled in dark wood, and in those days lit by gas.

Down each side of it ran five long benches rising in tiers, one behind another, and upholstered in green leather. These two banks of benches faced each other, and upon the benches Members sat, without desks or tables in front of them, without armrests, sat as men sit on benches in the park, or at a cockfight, many with their hats on. Members sat on other benches and looked down into the cockpit. And at each end of the room hung another gallery, looking like a choir loft, for the grudging accommodation of "strangers."

Between the two banks of benches ran an aisle, a thin strip of no man's land across which the champions of opposing parties did battle. At the far end of this aisle, as if put there entirely by improvisation, stood a raised, throne-like wooden chair in which the speaker sat, wigged and gowned like a judge. Just below him and pushed up against him sat the three Clerks, also wigged and gowned. Below them was the Table of the House—nothing indeed but a sturdy table to put things on. One of the things was the great Mace, symbol of the Speaker's authority from the Crown—literally an intimidating medieval club. And from the Table a narrow carpet stretched down the aisle to the Bar, the boundary within which no non-Member might advance, and up which the House might summon any British citizen to judgment. The Bar had given its name to the whole tribe of barristers, and was nothing else than a bar of metal which might be stretched across the aisle to mark the boundary by drawing it on of a bailiff's rolling at one side of the room to meet another rolling at the other.

Most Law Terms Are Literal

Indeed the literalness of all these hallowed terms was staggering, but together with the dimensions and arrangement of the room, it told you more about the character of the House of Commons than all the books ever written.

And the aspect of the place was something to ponder.

The Queen's Speech had been written by Mr. Disraeli and read in this instance by the Lord Chamberlain in the Queen's name. It had been a general statement of the policy which the Government intended to pursue, and this debate on what answer to return to it was in effect a test of that policy in the House.

The Government was at present too young and strong to suffer a defeat upon such general policy lines as had been laid down in the Queen's Speech.

On the first day the formidable Mr. Gladstone had thundered against the Suez Canal announcement. He had as good as said that British imperialism in Egypt was not compatible with the plans communicated to him by God, and he had indicated that at four million pounds sterling the minority of a Government had been swindled anyhow. But it was known that he was saving his heaviest bolts to attack the authorizing bill itself at its most vulnerable point, the two-and-a-half per cent promised to the Rothschilds.

Now the debate had reached that portion of the Queen's Speech touching on the Condition of the People, and the signs were only gloomier.

Labor Problems Considered

It advocated the elevation of servants to equal rights with their masters before the law. Relief of trades-unions from criminal liability for strikes in restraint of trade. Slum clearance and public housing. It proposed to compel manufacturers to purge waste matter of impurities before emptying it into the rivers. It wanted expensive safety regulations for factories and merchant ships.

The Liberals, who represented the great manufacturing interests of the country, looked upon this program with horror. But many of the Conservatives were equally shocked by it.

The Old Guard of the Conservative Party, the party of the aristocrats and old landed gentry, was the nucleus round which the rebels were rallying. And the centre of the Old Guard had become Gadshaw, and now, in the mouths of mocking Members it sometimes became "Gad Sir." For Sir John Gadshaw was usually the most indignant, warlike, and explosive bit of old England in the room. He was a large man with a face like two raw beefsteaks rampant to either side of a giblet; and all night while lesser spirits had wandered out of the House from weariness or boredom, he had maintained his bulk on the front bench of the Conservative Gallery, mentally turning down thumbs upon the gladiators below. For if he had lost faith in the Conservatives, he liked Liberals and Irishmen less, Irishmen least of all. And at the moment he had also lost faith in the Speaker, for the Speaker had just recognized the Member for Limerick, the Hon. F. X. Devoy.

Ireland Regrets Wheeler Incident

Mr. Devoy said that on behalf of his colleagues and of the people of Ireland he wished to express regret for the distress suffered by Her Majesty in the Wheeler case, as reported in the public press. However, he said, and cleared his throat. It had come to his ears, he feared, that in this connection certain rogues and reptiles had circulated a report that this same boy Wheeler had been in the pay of Irishmen whose purpose had been the fell crime of regicine.

A sudden bush had fallen over the House.

He said he wished here and now, once for all, categorically and unequivocally, to give the lie to these liars. He said it was a cowardly attempt to blacken the name of the Irish people, perpetrated by unscrupulous bigots and blackhiters hiding behind the foul skirts of rumor. He sat down amidst the cheers of his colleagues.

The Speaker said the gentleman was out of order.

But Devoy had made a sensation.

The lewlap of Sir John Gadshaw hung quivering over the rail of the Conservative gallery. He had participated in two indignation meetings inspired by the Wheeler case, as well as in two resolutions insisting upon the country's right to be informed in a crisis; he had also written personally two letters to The Times about it, and so was deemed by his friends to be an authority on the subject. He was also a staunch defender of the Throne and a believer in the dictum that Englishmen ought to settle their own affairs, and considered Devoy nothing but a meddling foreigner.

"Damned cheek, I call it! Why don't Cross put him in his place?"

Disraeli Awakes

All this time the prime minister and leader of the house, Benjamin Disraeli, had been sitting as if detached from the proceedings, sunk into himself in a characteristic half-somnalent attitude, on the front bench by the table, one leg hanging over the other, arms folded, his tall hat tipped over his brows, his heavy eyelids drooping of their own weight. Now the hanging leg lifted itself and fell into place beside the other, one hand removed the hat, placed it gently, top down, upon the floor, and it was seen that the eyes were open: it was seen by many, for those unobtrusive signs of life had in them the quality of phenomena, as if manifested by stone. And now he was rising. It was this, more than the remonstrances of the Speaker, that restored order.

In a low voice that somehow penetrated to all corners of the chamber, the Prime Minister said the Government did not wish to leave the impression that it was unwilling to make public the facts of the Wheeler Case or to debate them. There were certain aspects of the case that were so closely bound up with the Government's policies that in order to discuss them, he submitted, it was hardly necessary to change the subject. If, therefore, Mr. Speaker would accept the Government's assurance in this regard, Mr. Disraeli would enlighten the House upon the Wheeler Case during the debate on the Address. And he sat down.

House Is Uneasy

It had made eyebrows shoot up like window blinds. Not a man present but itched to hear about Wheeler, but this was presenting the opportunity in a way none had expected and all considered reckless. F. X. Devoy grinned like a man who has outwitted a leprechaun. The Liberals were puzzled but hopeful. Uneasiness rumbled over the Conservative benches and erupted in the gallery.

"Jehoshaphat! What's this?" said Gadshaw. "Another leap in the dark? Head in the lion's mouth? Angels wouldn't do it, sir! Always said he wasn't fit. Piece of damned nonsense!"

Secretary Cross himself was dumfounded, and although the Prime Minister leaned over and whispered a word to him, he did not look reassured. Even the Speaker seemed to deprecate the idea. But he accepted the Government's assurances. He pursed his lips doubtfully, gave his head a shake, and again recognized Mr. Disraeli.

Word of what was passing had circulated in the lobby, and the half-empty House began to fill up again. Returning Members like latecomers to a church service moved awkardly to their places amid the irritated "shh-ing" of their colleagues as that oddly exotic figure that looked like Hammurabi in a frock coat slowly regained its full height and softly pronounced the antique formula:

"Mr. Speaker, sir . . ."

Budgeting Needed In Home Planning

In Building Your Own Home Money Angle Must Be Clear

This is the first in a series of articles written in the interest of readers who are contemplating building or buying a house.

If you are going to build, decide first on the amount you can spend on a house. Consider your salary and plan accordingly. The average man can afford a home costing from one and one-ahlf to two and one-half times his annual income.

If you propose to borrow money, your monthly mortgage payments, plus taxes and insurance, should not exceed 25 per cent of your monthly income. Prepare a family budget to find out how much of your monthly income is available for housing.

Determine the amount of savings you have for a down payment. Enquire into the approximate monthly costs of taxes, insurance and maintenance. You will require fire and hazard insurance to protect the property. Consider the maintenance and repair of the house as one of the monthly costs of home ownership from the very beginning.

The house should be large enough to fit present and future requirements. Provision might be made for ultimate additions and improvements. Be sure that the house will suit your way of living.

Investigate the community in which you intend to build. Water, electricity, gas, sewage disposal and garbage collection are essential services. Enquire about the plans for future development in the area.

SUITABLE SITE

See that the site on which you propose to build is suitable for your house. It should provide adequate water surface drainage.

The house must be structurally sound. If it is well built in all respects it will need a minimum of such as heating and plumbing are repairs. Mechanical installations of vital importance.

Simplicity in the design of the house is essential. An attractive appearance will increase the value of the property.

Why People Have Wide Windows

Windows are no longer merely a means of providing light and ventilation. In both the new and remodeled house they form dramatic decorative focal points blending the outdoors and indoors.

The sweeping view that gives a picture window its name is one of these. The capturing of breezes through French doors and awning type upper panes that siphon off ceiling heat is another advantage. But the decorative appeal through light, color and draperies is not to be disparaged.

IT'S RIDICULOUS

East Scribe Lampoons Puck Set-Up

By John Paterson

TORONTO, March 11. — (CP) — If hockey playoffs seem too long and involved, why not cut out the regular schedule and jump right into the playoffs?

Sounds revolutionary, but that's the way Laurie (Galt Reporter) Brain feels after a little research. He took a close look, for instance, at the Ontario Hockey Association senior loop system, wherein 42 games were needed to eliminate one of the four teams, a 12-game double round-robin series eliminated one more and a seven-game series goes on to get rid of the final also-ran.

But that's a mere trifle alongside one other senior league.

The hardy Cape Bretoners in Nova Scotia played a 70-game schedule—then moved all three teams into the playoffs. The second and third teams played a seven-game series to determine the right to meet the league's top team in another seven-game sawoff.

EVERYBODY WINS

Another league, the Maritime Senior, with four teams, played a 70-game schedule and, again, all four are in the playoffs. One—Amherst—barely managed to win six games all season. Yet if this team had suddenly hit a winning streak, it could have taken in all the honors.

Laurie has more; the subject seems to have intrigued him.

The Quebec Senior Hockey league eliminated one team in 60 games and is in the middle of three playoff series.

Brain takes a dim view of such proceedings. He admits some clubs need playoffs—in plenty—to meet expenses. But in many cases, such as the ones he named, "the situation is being carried to a point where it becomes ridiculous."

Magrath Stops Bears 39-37 To Win Basketball Title

CANUCK CAGE KINGS CAPTURE B.C. CROWN

PORT ALBERNI, March 11—(CP)—Vancouver Clover Leafs, 1949 Dominion basketball champions, last night won the senior 'A' British Columbia basketball crown, downing Port Alberni Athletics 45-34.

The smooth-working Leafs won the best-of-five series in three straight games. First two games of the series were played in Vancouver.

Bob Pickel, with 18 points, was high scorer for the Leafs, who lost only two league games this season.

That best expresses the opinion of some 500 basketball fans who witnessed Varsity Golden Bears' second straight defeat at the hands of Dagmath Rockets last night at the Varsity gym.

Rockets came from behind to win 39-37, after edging Bears 40-39 on Thursday, and cop the provincial senior men's crown in straight games.

That 'old college try' was what made the series so close, as Bears hardly were expected to make much of a showing. They had surprised coach Maury Van Vliet by downing Waterloo Meteors two straight for the northern Alberta title here recently.

BEARS SET PACE

Unlike the first game against Rockets, Varsity were sitting up front most of the way last night, even though by a small margin. It wasn't until the final four minutes that Rockets sneaked ahead to stay.

The students seemed to baffle Magrath in the first half with their fast breaking style, and had the favorites on the short end of a 25-17 score at the half.

But where a rest usually refreshes a squad, it appeared to harm Bears last night. After their short breather they lacked the fire that had prevailed earlier, and the visitors gradually ate into Varsity's eight point lead.

Rockets finally edged ahead 36-35, but a few seconds later Bears' Steve Mercier squared matters by potting a free shot.

Then young Wes Rice, who led Rockets with 11 points, counted two points on a lay-up, and Larry West made good on a free throw to make it 39.

The best Bears could do by way of reply was rookie Ole Nielsen's single point off a free throw to make it 39-37.

Steve Mendryk was top point getter for Bears as he notched 12, while team-mate Jim Macrae counted nine. Macrae played a terrific brand of ball as he was assigned to keep tag on Rockets' backbone, Bill Price.

PRICE HOBBLED

Dean Bennett, Magrath coach, whose protest of referee Tom McCloskin following first tilt had gained no ground, was in a jovial mood after winning the championship.

"I though the officiating, was very good tonight," said Bennett holding the Birks cup for the third year in a row.

Hang Out SRO Sign

By Cam McKenzie
Special to Bulletin

SASKATOON, March 11—Playoff fever hit Saskatoon with terrific force yesterday. Tickets for the Monday game between Saskatoon Quakers and Calgary Stampeders went on sale at 9 a.m. and the rink was a complete sell-out in just 70 minutes.

All ducats for tonight's game were cleared last Monday in just under three hours. Officials thought that might constitute a record, but yesterday's rush wiped out that mark in a hurry.

Quakers, all square at one game apiece with Calgary in the Western Canada Hockey league's best-of-seven semi-final series, had a general feeling they can take the playoff lead tonight. However, they still have loads of respect for the hustling Stampeder club.

When they evened the current playoff with a 4-0 shutout at Calgary Thursday night, Quakers looked their best of the season. Goalie Cliff Dobson set the pattern with a spectacular job in the nets and it seemed that every other player followed suit. The defence excelled in all-round good performance by the Saskatoon team.

Stampeders were by no means standing around in that game. They had plenty of hustle and fire, but were caught coming and going and on their few clear scoring chances Dobson rose to almost unbelievable heights. When a goalie can turn back a fellow like Dunc Grant, once the latter is home free, he's playing a lot of goal.

Quakers are not at all overconfident. Yet a survey among the players showed they favored six games for this series, with Saskatoon gaining the final round against Edmonton Flyers with a win over Calgary on Saskatoon ice, March 16.

There are no injuries in either the Saskatoon or Calgary camps, but Stampeder coach Butch McDonald might shake his lineup, switches in his lineup. Herb Lovett is one player who may get the nod for tonight's game. In this case it would be Lovett over veteran Bunny Dame.

Flyers' Colin Kilburn paced the point-seekers with 80, including a record 51 goals. A pair of Flyers, centre Doug Anderson and Steve Latoski, were tops in assists with 44 each.

Calgary's rookie defencemen, Hugh Coflin, came up with badman honors, spending a total of 113 minutes in the penalty coop. As a team, Flyers were far and away the most heavily penalized, notching the eye for 696 minutes, as against Saskatoon (538), Regina (466) and Calgary (432).

Pandas Champs

CALGARY, Alta., March 11 — (BUP)—University of Alberta Pandas have won the Alberta Intermediate women's basketball championship.

Varsity trimmed Wittichens 35 to 24 in Calgary Thursday night, to win a best-of-three series in two games straight.

Junior Final To Be Held In West

VANCOUVER, March 11—(CP)—Ebbie Boweing, president of the Canadian Basketball Association, last night announced that the Canadian junior hoop final will be played at the home of the Western champion.

British Columbia has a bye into the Western final and will meet the Prairie champion in the play-off here.

Earlier it had been announced that the Canadian final would be played in Vancouver, regardless of who won the Western title.

Vic Cagers Dump 'U' High

Victoria composite high school senior boys' basketball team took another step in defence of the Northern Alberta championship they have held for the last two years by defeating University 43-29 at Westglen last night.

The powerful Vic spuad, which has dropped only two games in the last three years against city schools, is a top-heavy favorite to grab the honors again this year.

It was ace centre Don Montcrieff, who displayed most of the scoring punch against University; Montcrieff turned in a commendable performance against the touring R. California all-stars recently. Last night he earned rating as the game's top scorer with 16 points. Little Cagey Krueger also was potent for the winners, potting ten points.

Forward Bill McAthey was tops for the Varsity five, with eight points, while Norris Chapman had six.

LINEUPS

University: Fraser (3), F. Rose (4), Windwick (4), Chapman (6), Davis (1), McAthey (8). Total 26.

Victoria: Montcrieff (16), Kruger (10), Murray (6), Day (6), Galanka (3), Malyevich (2), Andruck, Richmond, Rogers, Berg, Johnson. Total 43.

Eagles Get Reprieve

Varsity Bearcats, provincial junior men's basketball titleholders, have withdrawn from Dominion playdowns.

A spokesman for the University quintet stated that they concede all rights to the provincial title to MacKinnon's Eagles. Bearcats defeated the Eagles in two straight games in the best-of-three final.

Eagles will now advance into the interprovincial playdowns.

Prexy Arranges WCHL Playoffs

CALGARY, March 11—(CP)—A two-game, home-and-home series, with total goals to count, will be played if either of the Western Canada Hockey league's best-of-seven semi-final and final playoff rounds are tied at the end of the seventh game, president P. McDonald of Calgary announced yesterday.

First game of the extra round will be played for 60 minutes at the home of the club which had the lower standing in the scheduled season.

In the event that goals are even at the end of the second 60-minute game, the game will continue into overtime and be played by successive 10minute periods until a winner is decided.

Winner will meet Edmonton Flyers, who ended the schedule in first place and received a bye into the league final. Both series are on a point basis, two points for a win and one for a tie.

Because Stampeders finished second, the first game of the semi-final was played on Calgary ice. The opener in the final will be at Edmonton.

Mr. McDonald also said:

"All games in the semi-final series, and the final series, will be played for the regulation time, plus ten minutes overtime, if necessary, excepting in the seventh game in each series.

"This game will be played for the regulation time, plus 30 minutes overtime, if necessary, in periods of 10 minutes each. Two minutes is to elapse between the regulation time and commencement of the first period of overtime.

If the teams are still tied at the end of this period, time will be allowed to enable a new surface to be placed on the ice. The second overtime period will then commence.

Five minutes will be allowed between the second overtime period and the third."

Allen Nets Pair In Mercury Win

LONDON, March 11—(CP)—Edmonton Mercurys last night drubbed Earl's Court Rangers, of the English league, 8-2 in their final exhibition tune-up before the world hockey championships starting here Monday.

The Canadians appeared slow during the first two periods but suddenly broke out with rash of goals in the third session, sinking six within four minutes.

Rough play on both sides resulted in injuries to two of the Mercurys. Leo Lucchini twisted an ankle, and Pete Wright was clipped heavily over the left ear.

First period was scoreless.

Paul Gagnon of Montreal opened the scoring for Rangers in the second, beating goalie Wilbur Delaney while Mercurys were two men short. Ross Planche of East Angus, Que., added another Ranger goal near the end of the period.

Allen then scored unassisted for Mercurys, after a scramble around the Earl's Court nets.

It was also Allen who set up the tying goal at 5:12 of the third period, passing to Jack Davies who scored from close range.

Don Stanley put Mercurys ahead on a solo effort 26 seconds later, and Bob Watt added another, on assists by Stanley and Marsh Darling.

Hassie Young scored the fifth Mercury tally unassisted on a close-in slap shot and Allen came back for another on a pass from Bill Dawe.

Allen again broke through the Earl's Court defence to deliver a perfect pass to Doug Macauley, who secored the seventh Edmonton goal from the edge of the crease.

The Mercs, figuring they had blinked the red light enough, then went into a defensive shell. For the remainder of the game they were gencrally content to beat off Ranger trusts.

STAN Moher ON SPORT

Goldsworthy AHL Coach-of-Year

Rounding up names in the news . . .

He was lauded particularly for having stuck with a number of young, inexperienced players through some dark days early in the season. Eventually the kids paid off, and the Bisons have been pacing the eastern division for several weeks.

Now those same critics, who previously were saying Goldsworthy should have the holes in his head plugged, are measuring his noggin for size—to fit him with the 'coach-of-the-year' crown.

In winning the award, 'Goldy' edged 'Bun' Cook, Cleveland, by four votes to three. 'King' Clancy, at Cincinnati, received a pair, and your old friend, Neil (Frosty) Colville, earned one as bossman at New Haven.

In all 10 coaches got in on the act.

'Steady Steve' Up Close

Add more names in the news . . .

Steve Latoski, newcomer this season to the Flyer clan, after being a household name in Lethbridge for three seasons previously.

Final WCHL averages, released yesterday show the cagey pivot high and dry in fourth place, with 60 points.

This marked the third time in four seasons of employment in the Western Canada loop that Latoski has finished fourth or better in the sniping race.

The veteran steamed into a third place finish, season 1946-47, with 63 points.

A year later he was bang up in the second slot, tied with stylish Ab McDougall, off a 75-point effort. Flyers' Morey Rimstad hid on peak with 80.

Last season Latoski was down with the 'cheap' performers, having slipped off to 42 points.

But this season that big playing surface at the Gardens was right down his alley. He bounced back into the league's '400'. And who knows how close he would have been to pace-setter Colin Kilburn at the finish, had injuries not stretched him low at mid-season.

Jack Kelly and Liz Taylor

Still more names in the news . . .

Jack Kelly, Ponoka sportsman who did a fine job of steering the Central Alberta Hockey league through a highly successful 1949-50 season.

As one of the league governors, as well as statistician par excellence, Kelly saw a pet belief work out when all clubs in the compact circuit pretty well got along without imports.

To quote Frank Coulson, Ponoka Stampeder coach: "Kelly deserved a lot of credit for what he did this winter."

Vic Batho, five-pin executive who has been working overtime of late, readying the stage for the annual city tournament that gets underway today.

Tom Ramsay, skip Northern Ontario rink: the skypiece is off to the man who bossed three other guys to the Canadian curling title.

Elizabeth Taylor: Why not?

Walt Ditzen: That fan-fare strip we run daily.

Mike Meinyk, coach Maple Leaf midgets: 20 straight wins.

Elizabeth Taylor: So we said her already. So what?

SAM (THE MAN) SNEAD SPARKLES AT MIAMI

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 11—(AP)—Slammin' Sammy Snead fired a blistering six-under-par 66 yesterday to take the lead at the halfway mark of the Miami Beach $10,000 Invitation golf tournament.

The veteran pro from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., fired a 32-34—66 for a two-day total of 137.

Tied for third place are Walt Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., and Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla. Both posted 140.

CHICAGO—Forty-eight of about 600 players on major loop lists are 26-year men.

FINDING going tough in this bit of action against LSU in Southeastern Conference tournament is Dale Powell (with ball) of Tennessee. Manitoba, Cold to Start, Was Hot at Brier's End

VANCOUVER, March 11—(CP)—After spending more than 30 hours on ice in the last five days, Billy McTavish of Winnipeg relaxed last night with second place in the Canadian curling championship all wrapped up for Manitoba.

The 32-year-old skip from the Elmwood Curling club in Winnipeg, a hot pre-bonspiel favorite, tied down second place with a handy 13-8 victory over Carl Asmussen's Ontario foursome in an unprecedented play-off.

ALBERTA BEATEN

Earlier Ontario defeated Alberta, also in on the three-way tie for second place—first in 'spiel history since it expanded to a national basis in 1937—after regular play ended, that moved the Kitchener shotsmith into the final against McTavish and his partners, who had drawn a bye.

A four-ender to start put Manitoba well in front and, although Ontario once drew even at 5-5, McTavish swept to a comparatively easy victory. The Ontario rink was obviously tired, compared to the more youthful manitobans.

Tom Ramsay finally made the four inches, now famous in curling history, in clinching the championship in the eighth round Thursday. In 1946 Ramsay had wound up in a three-way tie for second place with Alberta and Manitoba and then lost out to Bill Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., when he missed a shot by four inches.

LOST TOUGH ONE

After dropping a heart-breaking 13-12 decision to Alberta in the first round, Northen Ontario roared through their next seven games in sterling fashion to nail down the championship tankard. They lost their last game to Manitoba but the game meant nothing to them.

Close to 22,000 people sat in on the Brier. Attendance record for Kerrisdale Arena, site of the bonspiel, was broken twice on successive nights. Wednesday, there 3,800 persons jammed into the 2,400-seating capacity rink. Thursday, the crowd topped 4,000.

The next year's bonspiel will be held in Halifax, probably from March 6 and 9, the same dates as this year. With Newfoundland a starter for the first time, there will be 11 draws, one team getting a bye each round.

Argos Sign Line Coach

TORONTO, March 11—(CP)—John (Mose) Kerns, first-string tackle with the professional Buffalo Bills for the last three seasons, yesterday signed a contract as assistant coach with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football league.

The 26-year-old, 245-pound star will play as line coach when the Argos get under way this season. He played with the Bills until the All-American Football conference was merged with the National conference. Buffalo was then dropped. Sport

FACE REPLAY OF MARATHON HOCKEY TILT

OTTAWA, March 11—(CP)—Ottawa Senators, Allan cup holders, and Chicoutimi Saguenueens may have to play Thursday night's 140-minute Quebec Hockey league marathon contest all over again next Wednesday if a winner has not been decided at the conclusion of their best-of-five quarter final series.

Thursday's game, the second of the series ran 80 minutes overtime in Chicoutimi before league president George Slater ordered the game stopped at the end of five overtime periods.

2ND GAMES TODAY

City Hockeyists In Pair of Wins

CALGARY, March 11—(CP)—Edmonton midget and juvenile hockey clubs got off to a flying start in their quest for provincial honors when they scored victories last night over teams representing the Calgary Buffalo Hockey Association in a doubleheader at Victoria Arena.

Edmonton Maple Leafs gained the lead in the midget series with a 9-6 victory over Buff Quakers. Edmonton Athletic Club juveniles followed suit with a 7-5 win over Buffalo Cubs.

Second games in the two-game total-goal series will be played today.

The juvenile fixture was close all the way. Cubs battled to a draw in the second then outscored the Calgarians 3-1 in the final canto.

In the midget fixture, Maple Leafs jumped into a big three-goal lead in the first period and added two more. They led 7-2 at the end of the second, out-scored 4-2 by Buff Quakers in the final frame.

Charlie Holmes, son of EAC juvenile coach, Lou Holmes, led Edmonton with three goals. Bob Clarke and Jerry Karpinka notched two each and Jerry Meinyk and Ken Popow added the others.

Other exhibitions Tuesday will see Stu Hart in against Al Korman, Jack Steele tackling Billy Stack, and Chief Suni War Cloud matching skills and grimaces with Jerry Meeker.

Freebooter Now 9-1

LONDON, March 11. — (AP) — Only a few changes were made last night in the first official call over on the Grand National steeplechase since final acceptors were announced for the March 25 classic.

Freebooter, the favorite, dropped a fraction from 19 to 2 to 9 to 1, while Roimond and Cromwell held steady as second favorites, at 100 to 6.

The only other entry on which the price was shortened was Shagreen, the Irish horse, which dropped from 25 to 1 a week ago, to 22 to 1.

Aclhon Major, temporarily out of training after a slight injury, was back in the list last night at 33 to 1 after not being quoted last week.

Wot No Sun, a good horse in the mud, appeared in the odds list for the first time. He was listed at 40 to 1. Only 14 of the 54 final acceptors were listed in the callover.

Fusari Laces Jimmy Flood

Earns Unanimous Decision In Madison Square Fight

NEW YORK, March 11—(AP)—Charlie Fusari, sharpshooting welterweight contender from Irvington, N.J., handed young Jimmy Flood a terrific lacing last night as he won a unanimous 10-round decision over the game New York middleweight in Madison Square Garden.

Fusari was outweighed 158 to 151¾.

The belting New Jersey milkman entered the ring a 1-3 favorite. But after the third round you could have got 100 to 1 on the 20-year-old Flood.

Fusari raked the crude, but willing youngster with every punch in the book but floored him only once.

Hobby Dykes, a San Antonio, Tex., welterweight, made his New York debut by stopping rugged Lou Valles of New York in 1:31 of the sixth round of the eight-round semi-final.

COLUMBUS—Ohio State set a Big Ten basketball mark by hitting 46 percent of its shots against Minnesota this season.

4 STARS ON SHELF

Brooklyn Squad Has Bad Time

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 11—(AP)—Four members of Brooklyn Dodgers, all of whom manager Barney Shotton had intended using in the two-game series with Boston Braves at Miami today and tomorrow, have been sidelined.

In addition to Gene Hermanski, who sprained an ankle Thursday, Bobby Morgan, Carl Furillo and Erv Palica became ill yesterday. Morgan, with a touch of tonsilitis, had a fever. Furillo's temperature hit 100.4 and Palica, while having no temperature, complained of "feeling hot." All were sent to bed and will not make the trip to Miami.

Clarence Podbielan, up from Montréal Royals, will pitch today in place of Palica. Bill Antonello will replace Furillo in right field, and George Shuba will be Hermanski's replacement in left field.

Deadline Goings

AVALON, Calif., March 11—(AP)—Chicago Cubs broke camp yesterday and headed for Los Angeles where they open their exhibition schedule with the Chicago White Sox at Pasadena today.

WASHINGTON — The Washington Redskins of the NFL last season threw 394 passes, completing 197 for exactly 50 percent.

PASADENA, Calif., March 11—(AP)—Manager Jack Onslow of Chicago White Sox will send pitchers Billy Wight, Howard Judson and Billy Pierce against Chicago Cubs in the opener of the spring exhibition schedule here today. The Sox have 15 pitchers in camp.

Flyers Plan 'Party Split'

It's close to 40 years now since Strathcona, on the South bank of the North Saskatchewan river, and Edmonton, on the other, agreed to amalgamate as Edmonton.

But Wednesday night, at the Gardens, it's possible all the good resulting from this amalgamation will be undone in just a couple of hours.

You see the Flyers, their ranks augmented by four or five members of Varsity Golden Bears, will split up into two teams for purposes of an exhibition game.

And the teams will be known as 'South Side' and 'North Side'.

'South' will boast such hard-knocking pucksters as Harvey (Pug) Young, Colin Kilburn, Doug Lane, Eddie Cutts. If this doesn't take care of most of the 'bruisers' on the club, we'll put in with you.

In other words it will be the South Side 'Bruisers' against the 'Gentlemen' of the North Side.

Ira Stuart and Barney Stanley will come out of retirement as managers of South Side and North Side, respectively.

As added attractions there'll be a broomball game, between Firemen and Policemen, several exhibitions of figure-skating, and the wind-up of a 'speed competition' Flyers have been staging at nightly workouts.

Thomas Blanks C.S. Squad

With goalie Bill Thomas in the starring role, LaSalle shut out Civil Service 4-0 last night in a Commercial Hockey League game played at the Gardens. As a result, the winners earned the fourth and last playoff spot.

ACT Finals

Finals of the Associated Commercial Travellers' Inter-Service Club bonspiel are scheduled for 11:00 Sunday morning at Royal curling club.

Sell-Out Expected For Minneapolis Symphony

Indications point to a complete sell-out for the visit and performance here of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, March 30.

The famed aggregation is under direction of Antal Dorati, named permanent conductor in 1949. A native of Budapest, he was the youngest person in the history of the Academy of Music there to receive a degree.

At 18, he was appointed conductor of the Royal Opera House of his native city. Since then in the fields of symphonic music, opera and ballet, he has conducted practically all the large symphony orchestras of the United States.

AFTER MITROPOULOS

Visit of the orchestra here is another triumph for Celebrity Concerts (Canada) Ltd., of Winnipeg, and its energetic president A. K. Gee.

RICH PROGRAM

Mr. Dorati has arranged a program rich in harmony and vital in exciting passages, particularly Beethoven's brilliant scherzo presto from his Seventh Symphony in A Major.

The program opens with the overture to The Merry Wives of Windsor (Nicolai).

Variations and Fugue on a theme of Purcell by Benjamin Britten; Treasure Waltz from The Gypsy Baron (Johann Strauss) and the Ride of the Valkyries (Richard Wagner).

Echoes of Erin Shapes Up As Fine Concert

Promising to be one of the outstanding musical productions of the year in the city, "Echoes of Erin", a program of Irish ballads and folk songs, will be presented Friday, March 17, and again on Saturday evening, March 18, in the auditorium of Mount Carmel School on University avenue, between 105 and 106 streets.

Jean Letourneau, his wife, Kathleen Busby Letourneau, and Father Leo Green—all ranking artists in Edmonton's musical world — will be the soloists.

Mr. Letourneau will also direct St. Anthony's Choral Group which will provide the background for the soloe.

Father Green will present Mount Carmel Choral Group, trained by Miss Biamonte under Father Green's direction.

Master Billy Murphy will be the boy soloist.

Members of the choral groups who have practiced so faithfully deserve the thanks of the parish as well as the whole-hearted support.

The business end of the concert is in charge of Bud Brunelle, Dick Devlen, Frank Swan and Harry Carrigan.

Lost Weekend Author Turns to Sunnier Side

"Life is intensely interesting in whatever direction it may take, happy or tragic, and it is a peculiarity of the human species that the unhappy holds more interest for us than the happy."

Jackson himself probably would not call it a philosophy. "I am not enough of an intellectual," he says, "to have formulated a cynical philosophy of life, or indeed, any philosophy. . . But I have read enough to know that the best minds of the past and present—poets, novelists, philosophers—have one and all been pessimistic about man."

The Sunnier Side is written within framework of a letter in which the author replies to a reader who complains that, "it does seem a pity that a man with your gifts should dwell so much on the morbid and sordid—neglecting the sunnier side and the wholesome."

Jackson tells the story—there are really three stories—of three small-town girls who are blissfully happy during their teen years. Of all the girls in town, they are the most popular, and each seems destined to make a successful marriage.

But Harriet Newton, who was cut off by her wealthy father when she married a moneyless man thirty years her senior, died tragically in a fall from a rickety back porch. Faith Goldsmith, whose husband had begun to treat her as part of the furniture, murdered him and their child before committing suicide. And Eudora Detterson, the beauty who became enslaved to alcohol, wallowed in the vilest degradation before conquering herself.

Oldster Challenges

DANVERS, Mass.—(UP)—Aaron Power is willing to test his athletic prowess against any man in New England in a 10-string candlepin bowling match topped off by a skating contest. There's only one qualification—contestants must be at least 75, Powers' age.

New Jazz Album Has Many Fine Combinations

Jazz clarinetist Hank D'Amico and a group of all-star musicians are featured in a new MGM album "Museum of Modern Jazz."

The eight sides in the book include jazz performances by both large and small instrumental combinations, featuring the spur - of - the - moment improvisation which makes American jazz the freshest in the world.

D'Amico and his full orchestra play "Poor Butterfly" and "I Only Have Eyes for You." He and a smaller sextet play "I Would Do Anything for You," "Deep Purple," "You're the Cream in My Coffee" and "If Dreams Come True." The Buddy Weed trio plays "Lover, Come Back to Me" and "They're Off."

GOOD NEW SINGLES

Fran Warrens recording of "I Almost Lost My Mind," in true Basin Street style, is a fine blues piece (RCA Victor) . . . Dave Apollon has a pair of pleasing zither solos in "The Third Man Theme" and "The Cafe Mozart Waltz" (National) . . .

Billy Eckstine's latest, is a rounded number with a strong beat which gives the Negro singer full expression for his deep voice (MGM) . . . Freddy Martin's band turns out one of the best of the current crop of "Music! Music! Music!" numbers, backed by a bouncy "Wilhelmina" (RCA Victor) . . .

IN ADDITION

Tony Martin singing "Roulette," Hugo Winterhalter's Orchestra playing "The Flying Dutchman" and Lisa Kirk and Fran Warren dueting with "Dearie" are other good ones on the RCA Victor label.

Canadian Composers Triumph in States

Canadian music carries an impact that is being felt beyond the Dominion's borders.

That fact was borne out recently when a composition by Winnipeg's Dr. Eugene Hill was performed by the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra. In a broadcast that reached around the world.

The composition was "Legend"—half of Dr. Hill's "Two Suites for Orchestra." And it was only the forerrunner of more Canadian works which are scheduled to go out from Oklahoma City on the network hook-up.

The recent broadcast of "Legend" was part of a series by the Oklahoma Symphony devoted to contemporary music from Europe and the Americas. It was heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System, the CBC Trans-Canada network and around the world by short wave on the United States armed forces network.

Now the Oklahoma Symphony has chosen at least three works by Canadian composers to include in future broadcasts in its series, which continues into April. Tentative plans call for an all-Canadian program on March 29 over MBS with the CBC and armed forces network carrying the broadcast as well.

The three pieces chosen, which will possibly be combined in the March 29 broadcast, are the adagio movement from Dr. Healey William's "Symphony No. 1," Ottawa-born Frederick Karam's "Poem for Strings" and John Beckwith's "Music for Dancing."

Other Canadian composers whose music is being considered by the Oklahoma Symphony are Michael Perrault, Dr. Claude Champagne, Maurice Dela and Harry Somers of Toronto, who is now studying in Paris.

All in all, it looks as if Oklahoma is making a big thing out of modern Canadian music.

Movie Names Quite Inept Sometimes

NEW YORK—John Brooks wrote an amusing little piece in the New Yorker recently which he called "The Title Back-Fire."

He told about play titles which backfired on the authors when the critics got around to reviewing the shows in question.

He tells of a play, among others, called "Anybody Home," which critic Howard Barnes of the Herald Tribune reviewed under the heading, "Everybody Hohum."

Brooks pretends to be bored by this method of critical appraisement. But he thinks enough of it to write a New Yorker story on it. Sometimes the temptation to use the title of the play in reviewing it is just too overwhelming.

For instance—there was a show a few seasons ago called "Mary Had a Little." It was a horrible thing. What I mean is, Mary may have had a little, but the play had absolutely nothing.

"Harem-Scarem," one of the more odiferous items, was a play that deserved only a two-word review—"harem-scarem."

One head still nods whenever we think of the time Zasu Pitts came here in her first stage play and the billing read, "Zasu Pitts in 'Her First Murder.'" After seeing it, we all prayed "Her First Murder" would certainly be her last. And an appearance by Mae West in "Come On Up" got a quick "No, Thanks!" from this reporter.

A patron, approaching the box office of Loew's Stillman Theatre in Cleveland, O., said in all seriousness: "I don't want to see Samson—just Delilah. Can't stand those double features!"

Commercial Gripe Is Raised Again

Dubbed-in Plugs Cause Ire Among Canadians

Maybe we're just a bunch of old grouches, but nothing in Canadian radio burns us up more than these dubbed-in Canadian commercials on programs over CBC hookups that originate in the U.S.

Probably the best illustration of our point is the Bob Hope show, heard locally over CBX and CJCA on Tuesday nights at seven.

The program opens with great fanfare from Hollywood, New York or wherever Hope happens to be on that night. And then for almost a solid two minutes we hear nothing but the voice of Bing Whittaker of CBC Toronto extolling the virtues of some soap which doesn't require rinsing, and then the switcheback to the program.

LISTENER MAD

And as often as not the switchback brings the listener right smack into the middle of a Hope gag and he is lost in repartee and laughter for many seconds as he tries to catch the trend of the program.

And then after a few more rapid fire gags, the Canadian commercial breaks in again, often times in the middle of a gag or song, throwing the listener into another fit of pique against Canadian programming.

Fibber McGee and Molly originates in the U.S., advertising U.S. and Canadian made products. Does this program continually break its continuity to dub in Canadian-ized, long-winded commercials? No.

Then why can't other large radio-sponsors make their commercials apply to both Canadian and American listeners? There seems no logical reason why this can't be accomplished and listening made more enjoyable for us folk north of the border.

PROGRAMMING NOTES

June Allyson, Peter Lawford, Margaret O'Brien and Janet Leigh will recreate their original screen roles in the Lux Radio Theatre presentation of Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women." The hour-long dramatic program will be broadcast on Monday at 7 p.m. over CBX and CJCA.

Charlie McCarthy's well-known allergy to physical labor is overcome, momentarily, by his lust for gold in a riotous treasure-hunting sequence (including even a pirate song by guest star Dennis Morgan) on Coca-Cola's Sunday night, March 12, Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy show. The program will be heard on CFRN at 6 p.m.

Bergen has been complaining to his friend, Dennis Morgan, about Charlie's reluctance to attempt anything more strenuous than pulling back the rubber band on his peashooter, and Morgan suggests that Edgar trick him into doing some work.

CPR SEEKS TO CUT RATES FOR THE U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 11—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday pressed its demand for the right to bring Canadian potatoes into the United States at reduced rates.

In a petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the CPR asked an emergency permit to cut the rate on such shipments by 13 cents a 100 pounds to meet barge and motor truck competition.

Pope Requests Peace Prayers

Special to The Bulletin

VATICAN CITY, March 11.—(UP)—Pope Pius called on Catholics today to open a crusade of prayers for peace on Passion Sunday March 26.

In an encyclical letter to all bishops the Pope said he would descend into St. Peter's basilica on Passion Sunday to unite his prayers with those of the world.

SOULS TREMBLE

He expressed anxiety over the failure of the world to find true peace, and said:

"Many nations obstruct each other in turn, and as faith grows less, the competition of the armaments race grows, leaving the souls of all trembling in suspense."

The Pope said the worst evil and the root of all other evils was the subordination of lies for truth. He linked that with the persecution of Catholics.

FOMENT VIOLENCE

"With false promises they mislead the people who are influenced toward hatred, rivalry, rebellion especially if they succeed in removing from the people's hearts their ancestral faith, the only relief in this earthly exile.

"They organize and foment violence and tumult and uprising which lead to the ruin of economy and bring about irreparable damage to the common welfare."

New Rheumatic Drug Aids Pope

Mr. Cohen said an announcement on the opening of the company's new Edmonton store on the Southside will likely be made in the next two or three days.

Army and Navy firm has stores in Edmonton, Regina and Vancouver.

LANSING, Mich., March 11—(AP)—Longest name of the new Lansing telephone book is that of George Peppavlahod Imitrakopoulous.

A restaurant owner, Peppavlahod Imitrakopoulous has a standing offer of a free meal for anyone who can pronounce his name right the first time. He doesn't serve many free meals.

Price Hike Raises Ire

ROME, March 11.—(AP)—The Italian government boosted the prices of gasoline, cigarettes and tobacco today to aid in paying for Premier Alcide De Gasperi's new $2,000,000,000 development program for southern Italy.

Man Escapes Jaws Of 14-Foot Crocodile

Special to The Bulletin

DARWIN, Australia, March 11.—(BUP)—Micky, a rugged Aborigine from the bush country, told today how he escaped from the jaws of a 14-foot crocodile.

Propped up in a hospital cot, Micky, 23, was believed to be one of the few men ever to survive a similar crocodile attack.

He said he got away from the monster by forcing his thumbs into it eyes during two separate attacks.

What's more, he survived a five-day trek during which he was carried to a mission post on his uncle's back and lived on goannas, snakes and wallabies the uncle caught.

Both natives were swimming in a fast, muddy tributary of the King river, 250 miles east of here, when the crocodile attacked Micky who was swimming ahead of his uncle, Horace.

Horace helped him to shore, Micky said, but he was bleeding and mauled so badly he couldn't walk.

Canada Asked To Take Dothboy

By JOHN DOWNEY
Exclusive to The Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 11.—(BUP)—Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands today urged Canada to accept more immigrants from Holland as the tiny country's population was growing too large for its resources.

"We can send you as many immigrants as you like," he said, suggesting 10,000 a year.

Canada admitted some 17,000 Dutch settlers between April 1, 1947, and the end of 1949. Most of them were farmers who worked on Canadian farms until they could purchase land of their own.

Queen's Carpet En Route To U.S.

OTTAWA, March 11 — (CP) — Queen Mary's famous carpet will leave England March 15 on the liner Queen Mary to begin its tour March 20 of the United States and Canada.

The United Kingdom high commissioner's office said today that the famed rug, which took the 82-year-old mother eight years to complete, contains 1,000,000 stitches in 448 colors.

German Youths Stone Commies

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP)—Hotheaded West Berlin youths stoned a Communist rally on the Soviet sector border yesterday. Boys between the ages of 14 and 18 threw bricks and stones into a crowd of 5,000 who heard Gerhart Eisler, East German propaganda chief, assert that 500,000 young Communists intend to march on Berlin this Whitsuntide (in May). West Berlin police broke up the stone throwing before anyone was seriously injured.

North Opens Art School

LAKE CHIBOUGAMAU, Que., March 11.—(CP) — Winter nights can be long and tiresome in this isolated back-of-beyond land but mining engineer Randolph (Randy) Howe has boredom beaten.

His answer: Oil painting.

"I like to think that here, half way between the St. Lawrence River and James Bay, we have perhaps Canada's most isolated art colony," the Montreal and Port Hope, Ont., engineer said today.

He is strictly an amateur who a couple of years ago figured he'd spent much of his life in the bush and if anybody should know trees he should. So he tried putting trees on canvas and has sold a couple of pictures in Montreal.

Randy does his painting on a home-made easel in his drab one-room shanty. His pupils include boys who man the lonely dominion meteorological station on Lake Chibougamau and Mrs. Joe Jourdain, the only white woman wintering in the Chibougamau mining district.

'SWEEP AWAY IMPERIALISM'

Only Insane Fools Try To Scare Us -- Molotov

By HENRY SHAPIRO
Special to The Bulletin

MOSCOW, March 11.—(BUP)—Deputy Premier Vlacheslav M. Molotov has joined other Politburo members in stressing the Soviet Union's desire for a long-lasting peace.

Molotov claimed the Soviet Union believes that Communism and Capitalism can co-exist in peaceful competition.

He said, however, that the danger of a new war continues to exist as long as Imperialism exists.

"We firmly believe in the Leninist-Stalinist principles of the peaceful co-existence of two systems and peaceful competition between them, but we also know full well that as long as Imperialism exists there exists also the danger of a new war," Molotov said.

"The Soviet Union is vitally interested in a long, lasting peace in order to carry out its great construction programs."

Molotov's speech strengthened the belief of diplomatic observers that Russia may be willing to accept an invitation to talk peace and co-operation with the west.

"Yesterday they terrorized us with the atom bomb," he said "today they are striking terror with the so-called hydrogen bomb, which never before existed in the world.

"But while they were engaging in blackmail about the monopoly possession of atomic bombs, the Soviet people, as is known, did not waste time but mastered the secret of atomic energy and the atomic weapon.

"In present-day conditions, by rejecting peaceful competition and unleashing a new war, the Imperialists will inevitably evoke the just and resolute indignation of the people, which will sweep from the face of the earth for all time both Imperialism and aggression."

Flying Saucer Song

Said the hubby with steak on his eye.
Not the ones down from Mars
For these never leave scars,
But the dishes "she" throws,
My O My!

★ ★ ★ ★

Elegant Elsie, our favorite waitress, thinks Martians must be very stupid to go flying around on saucers. Says Elsie: "The saucers we get nowadays break so easily."

When Slippers Feel Softer

Ten unfailing symptoms of middle age I've been conscious of lately: . . . (1) Looking forward to getting those nice soft house slippers on in the evenings . . . (2) Telling just plain lies over the telephone as to why you can't pay a visit to an old friend six blocks away . . . (3) Telling Junior that Daddy's sick when he wants to wrestle . . . (4) Telling other middle-agers that young fellows don't "have near the fun we used to have" . . .

(5) Telling the Missus in mid-winter that "We really must start going out more next summer . . . (6) Starting to seriously consider moving to a warmer climate . . . (7) A growing tendency to read the obituary column to see if any more of the old gang have gone west . . . (8) A greater fondness for taxis when you have to go four blocks from the bus line . . . (9) A keener sensibility to how hard the couch is to sleep on . . . (10) A growing interest in old age pension rates.

Better CNR Station

Have you noticed how much nicer the CNR station looks these days? . . . The new lunch room is a honey and there's so much more space in the main passenger waiting room.

If they'd only start to run the trains on time again everything would be lovely.

★ ★ ★

CNR conductor W. Forbes is back from quite a holiday trip. He went all the way down to Vera Cruz, Mexico. Forbes was away about one month and he was travelling (by rail) about three weeks of that time.

A west coast cleaning establishment has this sign in the window: "If you come clean with me, I'll dye for you."

Hitch-hiking is against the law. City fathers were all set to emphasize this in Edmonton's new traffic bylaw the other night. Then Ald. Harold Tanner and Commissioner John Hodgson mentioned that strict enforcement would be tough on varsity students. The matter was dropped.

A restful goodnight to all and especially to people with stiff necks from looking for flying saucers.

Edmontonians Honor Fellow Citizens

SERVICE TOTALLING 112 years was represented when Winslow Hamilton, chairman, presented gold long service pins to veteran employees of University hospital yesterday. Receiving pin is Mrs. Elizabeth Porrit and three other staff members similarly honored are Dr. Richard Proctor, director of radiology; A. C. Waters, chief caretaker; Thomas W. Robson, hydrotherapist. They all began hospital service in 1922. Five others were honored.

AT UNIVERSITY cafeteria, 32 nurses from Alberta and Saskatchewan, graduates of University's extension department hospital administration course, received graduation certificates yesterday. Discussing valuable course after ceremony are Rose Fortowsky, Wilkie, Sask.; Dr. M. G. McCallum, department of health, and Helen Deagle, Consort, Alta.

WITH UNVEILING of plaque at courthouse, legal profession yesterday paid tribute to members who fell in Second World War. L. Y. Cairns, KC, and James Ross, KC, officiated at dedication which honored nine members.

Blue Ruin Cry Harms Production

Ure Claims Curtailment Requests Bring Problem

Cries of "blue ruin" by officials of "some" farm organizations had a detrimental effect upon the agriculture industry, according to Alberta's agriculture minister.

Hon. David A. Ure, minister of agriculture, said in the budget debate yesterday that officials of some organizations were too hasty in advising farmers to curtail production after price and market declines in 1949.

SHORTAGES SEEN

As a result of lowered production, shortages of some farm products may develop in 1950.

Cash in the hands of farmers is expected to be less in 1950 than it was in 1949, the minister said. No wheat participation certificate payments have been made to farmers, and income tax refunds have not been received this year as they were last.

"But, of course, 1940 was an election year," he said.

For the first time in agriculture history in Alberta, vaccine for bang's disease control will be supplied by dominion government authorities, Mr. Ure said. This arrangement is expected to speed up Alberta's program of livestock disease control.

Farmers Like Sea Voyage

Passenger traffic manager H. B Beaumont of Montreal said yesterday in Edmonton that there is big trade in the fall from farmers who pack their bags for Scotland and England after harvest is over.

"We get them all through October and November," commented Mr. Beaumont. "They winter in the old country and come back in the spring."

Devaluation of pound is also a strong inducement, he said.

All in all, Mr. Beaumont expected the 1950 summer season to be a banner one for Canadian Pacific Steamships.

"We get the Empress of Scotland back in May and that will make it possible to maintain a weekly schedule between Canada and the old country. The Empress of Canada and Empress of France are at present operating on this run," he reported.

Law Society Pays Tribute

The occasion was the unveiling and dedication of a bronze memorial plaque honoring memories of nine members of the Law Society of Alberta who gave their lives in the Second World War.

Draped in black and surmounted by a large Union Jack, the memorial was unveiled by L. Y. Cairns, KC, as president of the Law Society of Alberta.

ROLL CALL

Roll Call of the members' names embossed in bronze was read by the association's secretary, E. W. S. Kane, KC, following which Bugler George Nicol sounded The Last Post.

"To the realization of that ultimate truth the remembered friends and comrades now are the heralds and pilots of the future emerging from the shackles of the night . . . to the noonday of that greater life," said James A. Ross, KC, who conducted the dedication and benediction.

The crowded main floor of the court house included several next-of-kin of those whose names were commemorated.

Philharmonic Features Music By Edmontonians

An appreciative audience listened attentively to music written and arranged by Vernon Barford and Richard Carrol and to songs presented by Kathleen Busby Letourneau, an Edmonton woman who hasn't been heard here for several years.

On the whole, the orchestra played with considerable spirit, exhibiting well-integrated tone and sensitive feeling for the music.

BEAUTY OF TONE

Mrs. Letourneau's lyric soprano voice was overshadowed by the orchestral accompaniment in her first number, "Depuis le Jour," from Charpentier's "Louise" but in "Waltz Song" from Edward German's "Tom Jones" and in her unaccompanied solo, "The Singer," she was given more chance to show the pure beauty of her voice.

Except for some unexpected power in her upper register, her voice is light and rather ethereal. What it lacks in quantity it makes up in quality. It is graceful and flexible and obviously well-trained. Her planissimos were almost unbelievable for sheer beauty of tone.

May Day Suite was written in 1923 by Vernon Barford. Because of illness, he was unable to conduct his composition last night. But his suite received an enthusiastic ovation.

APPEALING MUSIC

It is music both spirited and charming, exhibiting a lovely melodic line. It is appealing music, very different from noisy discordance evident in many of today's compositions.

Another interesting orchestral number was Richard Carroll's Suite for Strings, based on themes by Purcell. Mr. Carroll has performed a valuable service in his compilation and adaptation of these melodies.

Major orchestral work of the evening was Haydn's Symphony in D. Other numbers included excerpts from Khachurian's robust Masquerade Suite, Schubert's Overture to Rosamond, Bach's Air for G String, Tschaikowsky's Humoresque and Entry of the Little Fauns by Gabriele Pierne.

Mr. Aitken has been a resident of Edmonton since 1906 and previous to joining the post office was assistant to Postmistress A. P. Cosens at Zion, Alta.

Increased Trade Seen With Spain

MONTREAL, March 11.—(CP)—An increasing volume of trade between Spain and Canada may result from the participation of Spain in the Canadian International Trade Fair to be held at Toronto, Spanish consul general Vincente Trelles said here today. He said a group of Spanish exporters will display a large variety of Spanish goods at the fair, May 29 to June 9.

The Mississippi River was discovered by Fernando DeSoto, a Spanish explorer, in 1541.

Traffic authorities say the total number of people injured in motor vehicle accidents in Ontario in 1949 would equal the population of Belleville, Chatham, North Bay or Stratford.

WRIGGLING BROTHERS BUSY . . .

Capacity Crowd Views YMCA Annual Gym Show

The YMCA's annual gym show, "colossal Wriggling Brothers Bendum & Bashum Circus," under the guidance of Ringmaster A. E. Burden, was presented in circus style at the Sales Pavilion last night.

The show, which played to a near-capacity audience, featured 22 gymnastic acts. Music was provided by Edmonton Boys' Band, under direction of Bandmaster Newlove. Introduction was given by Dr. Nielson chairman of the "Y's" physical education committee.

Procession of kiddies presenting a flag drill, led by a Scot bagpipe player, opened the two-hour show. Clowns cavorted throughout the evening, aided by a mock policeman operating in true "Keystone cop" fashion.

Group of seven boys and girls from the gym club, well-versed in precision drill, presented a demonstration of calisthenics. Amusing feature was a group of junior boys, decked out in pony costumes, representing 'no-goodniks' from Lower Slobbovia.

Other headline features were a sextet performing dramatic balancing acts, Barnie Hughes on the flying rings, a clever springboard performance, and a ballroom scene by three formally clad waltzing couples.

Responsible for various stages of the revue were:

John MacRae, chairman; Tom Davidson, publicity; Lynn Morgan, Sev Heiberg, Bob Thomson, Art Warburton, Vern Lawrence, Viv Argent, Mo Slusky, circus acts

Ox-Skin Buys Great City of Carthage

Many years ago there lived a King of Tyre who died leaving two children, a son and a daughter. Pygmalion, the son, ruled the country while the daughter, Dido, who was the most beautiful princess in the whole world, married a man named Acerbas.

Now if this were a fairy story, we could say that everybody lived happily ever after, but it wasn't so.

Pygmalion, who was a wicked man, hated Acerbas and murdered him. Then Dido left Tyre and sailed to the south until she came to Africa. She landed at a beautiful place where the water was blue, the hills green and the people treated her royally.

She begged the people of the beautiful country to sell her a piece of land where she might rest after her long journey. They agreed, and said she could have as much ground as could be covered by the hide of an ox. Now Dido was as clever as she was beautiful. She took the ox-hide and cut it into a very long thin strip. Starting from the outside of the skin she cut around and around, until it looked just like a long piece of rope.

She then took the long skin and circled it over a large area. Within the circle she built the city of Carthage.

Dido reigned as queen in her new home and a few years later a king of a neighboring country asked for her hand in marriage. He said if she refused he would destroy the city and all its people. The queen was sorrowful when she heard this cruel threat and did not want her people to suffer for her sake. But she still cherished the memory of her dead husband, Acerbas.

She begged the king to allow her three months to make up her mind. The king agreed, and during the months Dido raised a great altar within the city, piled it high with wood on which many sheep and oxen might be sacrificed. When the day came when she must make her decision, she put a torch to the altar and walked into the flaming pyre to her death.

That is the story of the building of one of the finest cities in Africa. Historians claim that Carthage was founded by the Phoenician colonists of Tyre and Sidon and was first called Kirjath-Hadeschath, meaning new town.

Carthage was situated on the Bay of Tunis and boasted palaces, temples and spacious docks where ships visited from Spain, Italy, Syria and even Britain. Although the people were not warlike, they protected their town with all their strength in cases of attack.

The city was finally destroyed by the great armies of Rome in a siege that lasted for many months. During the battle elephants and horses were stabled within the walls, huge battering rams manned by six thousand soldiers were used by Romans, and Carthaginian ladies even cut off their hair when material was needed to make slings.

But the defence was in vain. The Roman army was powerful and finally captured the city, looted it and then burned it to the ground. It was many years before any of the people of Africa tried to build a new city on the ashes of the old.

Sincerely,

Jean Wicken

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggily, with Buster, Bunty, Uncle Butter, Double Dip and Jelly Bean, left the meadow and swamp to go back to the sky auto in the parking lot.

As they hurried to get ready to eat their breakfasts, they could hear, back in the meadow and swamp, the frogs practicing for the afternoon celebration of Jug a Lug Day. The frogs, cured of their colds by Uncle Butter's hot sassafras tea, were shouting:

"Ger Umph! Ker Roak! Ga Zing! Ga Zung!"

Then Jelly Bean, the little piggie brother of Double Dip, said:

"Wanga -onga -umph -zinga zungo!"

"See what I mean?" laughed Bunty.

"What did Jelly Bean say?" asked Buster. For Bunty and Double Dip were the only ones who could understand the funny gurgling talk of the little pig. "What did Jelly Bean say?"

"Oh, he just said," answered Bunty, "that he wished he had had some ice cream. He said it's better than hot sassafras tea."

"Not for colds it isn't," bleated Uncle Butter, shaking his golden horns. "But maybe after the king and queen celebrate Jug a Lug Day they will give everybody ice cream, same as they did on Golden Day."

"Oh, good! I hope they do," said Double Dip.

And, back in the meadow and swamp, the frogs who had got back their voices, croaked: "Ger Umph! Ker Roak! Ga Zing! Ga Zung!"

After eating their breakfasts in the sky auto, Uncle Wiggily, Buster, Bunty, Uncle Butter, Double Dip and Jelly Bean set out for the open square, or plaza. There King Alby and Queen Owlie would listen to the croaking of the frogs for Jug a Lug Day celebration.

"I wonder what it is like at the top of Big Tree," said Buster as they hopped along to the plaza.

"Perhaps we may go up and see," said Uncle Wiggily, "after we watch the awarding of the prize to the loudest frog."

Soon the frogs began to croak their loudest. Some croaked "GER UMPH!" Some croaked: "GA ZING!" And Greenie croaked "ZUNG UMPH!" Oh, such a chorus of croaks! Bunty held her paws over her ears.

"I hope Greenie wins the prize," said the orphan rabbit.

At last the frogs stopped croaking. There was silence. The king flapped his albatross wings and said:

"You all croaked so well and so loudly, that I cannot tell which was loudest and best. So Queen Owlie and I have decided to give each and everyone of you a prize of an ice cream cone."

"Oh, goodie!" squealed Double Dip. Greenie and all the frogs were happy. And so ended Jug a Lug Day.

"Come!" called Uncle Wiggily. "We must hurry. For we are going up to the top of Big Tree and see what is there."

And on Monday I will tell you what happened next. But please don't let the skipping rope jump over the roller skates when they are playing hide and go seek with the lollipop.

Please enroll me in the Tawasi Club.

Cut-Glass Counts High on Any Budget

By Bea Thrifty

Cut-glass galore has come from Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Switzerland to sparkle in expensive brilliance before our beauty-starved eyes.

And if we bought some of these lovely pieces we'd starve for more than beauty. But I'm being bitter. Actually, for them as has the dollars to spend on rich, luxurious cut-glass . . . there are truly some lovely bowls, decanters, glasses 'round and about now.

* * *

A graceful swan-necked wine bottle, accompanied by half a dozen matching long-stemmed glasses is a bargain though for a mere $25 . . . If that kind of dollar-talk fits into your scheme of bargains . . .

Wall brackets for ivy 'n whatnots 'n things have always appealed to me more than somewhat.

Well . . . now there's a series of novices in town made of pastel pottery and shaped in gentle suggestion of ripened wheat patterns. A pale blue double-barreled job (that's rum for two ivy plants) is a graceful affair for a mere $3-ish price.

* * *

In the kitchen caper corner I found fine boxed sets of gadgets such as potato mashers, gravy ladles, cooking forks 'n such . . . selling at $2.95. At least a dozen pieces came in each box, all matched in yellow, red, blue or green and would make a delightful shower gift.

Kitchens go to color more and more.

A set of salad bowls sells for $1.79 and is a combination of large mother-bowl and four individuals in assorted colors. These are a plastic-like material and are bright and gay as can be for garden-suppers 'n such.

* * *

And back to this color business.

Let me tell you of a bright success story about a home-painting job. A young couple in a newish home tired of the antiseptic white look of their well-planned kitchen.

With courage and a couple of buckets of paint they set about to remedy the situation. They chose a tile-brick-red shade for the walls if you please and a lemony biscuit shade for cupboards. Now this may sound a bit bizarre . . . but it turned out perfectly splendid.

Inside of cupboards was painted with the brick shade, which incidently matched one square of the otherwise biscuit-shaded linoleum. New-leaf green plastic curtains at the wide windows gave a light, gay touch to this very different. . . but attractive new room.

* * *

So much success with their color cut-ups in the kitchen went to their heads and they took a fling at the bathroom. They chose bright pink walls on three sides and shiny black wall over the tub. Saucy pink mermaids float about the black wall with delightful abandon . . . and the whole effect in light'n laughing.

ACTRESS JOANNE DRU poses in an intriguing manner—but it isn't the way you should hold your head if you are fighting a double chin.

WHY GROW OLD

Weight Distribution Dictated by Glands

By Josephine Lowman
(THE QESTION BOX)

Q. "What am I going to do? Why did this happen to me? I gained 10 pounds. I wasn't overweight before and thought maybe I needed a little more weight.

"I look much better in the face and bust, but my hips have increased three inches, almost. My other measurements have remained about the same. Now my hips are way out of proportion!"

A. Weight distribution is an individual matter dictated by our individual glandular make-up. Activity affects it some too. For instance, women who sit in an office most of the day are more subject to large thighs and hips.

Q. "My bust measures 34 inches, my waist 27 inches, and my hips 37 inches. I am five feet and four inches tall. Are my measurements correct?"

A. You should lose an inch anyway (two would be better), from your waist and hips.

Q. "Will drinking soft drinks put weight on the abdomen?"

A. Most bottled drinks range in calorie amount from 85 calories a bottle to 125. It depends mostly on how sweet the drink is. If you drink many of them they will add weight, but not necessarily on the abdomen.

Q. "What can I do for a double chin?"

A. Watch your posture. Improve it. Do not tuck your chin into your neck. If you are overweight a loss in poundage will help. Also do this exercise: Lower your head backwards. While holding it in this position chew in an exaggerated way. Open your mouth widely.

Using Trump Coup May Make Game

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

East cashed his king and ace of clubs and then led the king of diamonds, which declarer ruffed. North could see that, with a successful spade finesse, and a break in trump, his contract was as-

	♠ 8 7 4 ♥ K Q J 8 6 5 3 ♦ None ♣ 7 2
♠ 10 6 5 2 ♥ 10 7 4 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ Q 9 6	N W E S Dealer	♠ K 3 ♥ A ♦ A K 8 6 3 ♣ A K J 10 5
	♠ A Q J 9 ♥ None ♦ Q 10 7 5 4 2 ♣ 8 4 3

sured. If the spades finesse should lose, so would the contract, while a 4-1 split in trump would not necessarily be fatal.

He elected to try the spade finesse first, and when dummy's jack held, a diamond was returned and ruffed by declarer. Another spade was led, the king was covered by dummy's ace and dummy's last club was ruffed by declarer.

North then led the king of hearts. East won with the ace and returned a club. West wisely refusing to trump. Declarer trumped, cashed the queen of hearts, and then put the lead in dummy with the queen of spades. West must ruff whatever is led from dummy and declarer will over-ruff, making the last two tricks and his contract.

Notice that declarer had to reduce his trump holding by ruffing four times, so that he might put the lead in dummy at the eleventh trick. This is the only way he could avoid losing two heart tricks.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

No Intentions Are Unfair to Women

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 43 and have been going with a girl of 29 for the last five years.

We are very much in love with each other and have never had any argument on any subject except the question of marriage. She has been after me for the last three years to get married, but I am a widower and, having had a taste of marriage, I prefer to remain single.

She knows I love her and never think of any other woman. I take her out two or three times a week and we always have a good time. She is all that any man would want for a wife—good-looking, well-educated, charming, and I fully intend to marry her some day, but she says that I must either make up my mind to get married this year or she is through.

Don't you think she is unreasonable?

X. Y. Z.

Answer: Not at all. I think she is only showing good sense, and that she would display even more intelligence if she refused to marry you at all, for there is small chance of happiness in matrimony for the woman who has to drag a man to the altar against his will.

Evidently you are not in love with the girl. You find her an entertaining and an amusing companion. She is congenial and adds to your pleasure when you take her out.

You even enjoy a little love-making on the side that doesn't lead anywhere, and so as long as you can have her society without letting yourself in for paying her bills, why marry? There couldn't be a pleasanter arrangement for you.

But that isn't love. When a man really loves a woman he wants her for his own. He isn't satisfied with seeing her two or three times a week and taking her out to dinner now and then.

An ardent lover isn't putting off the wedding day. He is using every effort to hurry it up.

You say that one reason that you do not want to marry this girl right now is because you have been married and you dread giving up your freedom. That is a point you do well to consider. Not all men are adapted to married life.

There are plenty of men to whom no woman could ever be as dear to them as is their own personal liberty—plenty of men who are not domestic by nature and to whom a wife and children are always burdens. Such men not only preserve their own happiness but save innocent women from misery by staying single since no wife can be happy unless her husband is glad to be married to her. So have a heart and remain in that state of widowhood to which it has pleased God to call you.

The girl is quite right to call time on you, because there is no possible profit to her in wasting herself upon a man whose attentions are without intention.

Cosmopolitan Air Added To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Foreign stars seem to be lending a cosmopolitan air to Hollywood's social life. At a recent party Florence Marly, imported from France, met 16-year-old Frances Kata, newly arrived Japanese-Canadian beauty.

Miss Marly graciously addressed Miss Kato in Japanese. But Frances had to explain that she grew up in Canada, never learning the language of the Samurai. Miss Marly drifted on, greeting other guests in Spanish, French, Portuguese and German. Once she was overheard to say:

"In Prague I read Aleksis Kivi's 'Seven Brothers' in Czech. It's a wonderful book. Does anyone know if I can get it in English?"

The "Divine Sword" of Japan, which is more than 2,000 years old, is the most treasured blade in the world.

Budget-Balance Different Problem Back in '80s

By Mary Field

Way back in the 1880's, when Edmonton was just an HBC fort in the North West Territories, women still had their household problems.

Balancing the family budget then was a little different than it is today.

For instance, in 1884, canned plums were priced at 75 cents and 45 cents would purchase only 3 cakes of Honey soap. People could always wash with water and wipe the dirt off with a 40 cent towel.

BUTTER THEN AND NOW

Some items haven't changed too much with the changing years. Even before the turn of the century 1 lb. of brown sugar called for 16 cents. Pioneer housewives probably ranted on too about the terrible price of butter—50 cents a pound then.

For instance, in 1884, canned plums were priced at 75 cents and 45 cents would purchase only 3 cakes of Honey soap. People could always wash with water and wipe the dirt off with a 40 cent towel.

BUTTER THEN AND NOW

Some items haven't changed too much with the changing years. Even before the turn of the century 1 lb. of brown sugar called for 16 cents. Pioneer housewives probably ranted on too about the terrible price of butter—50 cents a pound then.

A 19th century Arthur Godfrey could have told not only what a refreshing drink tea was but also what an economical one—only 75 cents a pound. Doubt that Mr. Godfrey would also mention that sugar for that oh-so-good and oh-so-cheap cup of tea would set you back 90 cents for 3 pounds.

But life did have its compensations . . . "Old Marie" would come for $0 cents a day. Just think, for $3.50 you could have a weekly maid.

Spring time has always been time to look into that summer wardrobe. Our ancestors could find 8 yards of printed cotton for $2.00 and a pair of child's boots for $1.50. But one boy's shirt meant $10 less in the pocket-book.

GUNPOWDER ON LIST

Shopping lists were very different. Time 'was such items as tin kettles, copper kettles, clay pipes, and gunpowder were common. Of stoves and saddle bags were also in demand. Expenses like $3 for the blacksmith also had to be considered.

HEAP BIG SCARE

How about Papa, the wage-earner? Driving cattle seemed to be one of the most profitable jobs . . . at $2 a day. Highest paid employee at the steam mill received $15 for six days. Average salary was $6.67 for six days.

DADDY BAGS A MOOSE

Income could always be supplemented by killing the odd animal and securing the odd skin. Two moose skins would bring $10. Or you could follow the example of an Indian, who in 1881 was paid $2.50 for finding a horse at Lac La Nonne.

Healing expenses were comparatively low. A ton of coal was only $3.50.

Facts 'n figures were gleaned from an old HBC log of a Fort Edmonton Factor. Mrs. O. F. Walker, author of "Fortress North," recently received this log in searching for background material for another historical novel.

Newlywed Couple To Make Home in Wales

Altar and chancel of Holy Trinity Church were decorated with baskets of spring flowers for the recent evening ceremony in which Margaret Oddny Mariatt became the bride of Harold Emmett Williams.

They will make their home in Cardiff, Wales.

Rev. Winston M. Nainby read the marriage lines for the daughter of Mrs. J. T. Johansson, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams.

Classic gown of ivory satin was chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by H. D. McLachlin. It was made with lily point sleeves, sweetheart neckline, and a draped skirt gathered into pleats at the back and falling into a graceful train.

GIFT OF PEARLS

Her finger-tip veil was caught with a pearl headdress, and her only ornament was the bridegroom's gift of a four-strand pearl choker. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of red roses and white hyacinth.

Identical gowns of ice-blue satin were worn by the bride's two sisters, Miss Gretta Mariatt and Miss Joyce Johannson. They featured off-the-shoulder necklines, tiny puffed sleeves and full skirts with unpressed pleats.

Best man was John T. Cook, and the guests were ushered by John Williams, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald Marion.

During the signing of the register, Clarence Raymond sang "O Perfect Love." Wedding music was played by Herbert Wild.

MOTHER RECEIVES

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johannson chose an afternoon dress of powder blue nylon faconne crepe, with a side drape and high neckline. She completed her ensemble with a black hat trimmed with ping flowers, and a corsage of pink roses and hyacinth.

Mrs. Williams wore a dress of grey silk with black accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

Spring flowers decorated the home of the bride's mother for the reception which followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a hand-crocheted ecru lace cloth, and centred with a three tier cake embedded in white tulle and rosebuds.

COFFEE POURERS

Mrs. H. D. McLachlin and Mrs. C. Wall poured coffee. Serving were Mrs. L. G. Beatty, Miss Joan Sweeney, Miss Ella Potts, Miss Joyce Neary, Miss Doris Dobbie and Miss Audrey Fysh.

Bridal toast was proposed by L. G. Beatty.

Peaceful Atom Seen As Threat To Capitalism

Exclusive to The Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 11.—(BUP)—Russian atomic know-how might hasten the way to international agreement and future world government according to CCF leader M. J. Coldwell.

"The possession of atomic secrets by Russia may hasten agreement rather than retard it, as perhaps the most potent weapon Russia could use against a capitalistic world was the industrial application of atomic energy for productive purposes."

On The Farm

By J. V. O'Neill
Bulletin Staff Writer

Before you know it the vernal equinox will be with us and for farmers the vernal equinox means work or at least the beginning of heavier work.

March 21 is generally considered to be the first day of spring when the number of hours of day and night are equal.

With the first day of spring legend tells us that mother earth yawns, stretches and begins to stir with the influence of life and the spreading consciousness that life, not death, lies ahead.

From the vernal equinox to the summer solstice the zodiacal signs are Aries, Taurus and Gemini. These three are, or should be, well known to all farmers, especially the middle one who represents the bull.

* * *

The number of farmers who look with a certain amount of amusement or disdain upon the graduate agriculturist who does his farming in the university laboratory or on experimental fields has diminished in recent years.

These agros who search the reason for existence have come into their own in the estimation of the great majority of farmers and land workers simply because their "book larnin" has produced such advances as chemical weedicides, pest killers, animal diet supplements, and above all advice—and good advice—on the most effective use of land in any given area in Canada.

On this alone it would seem to this column that the advice of a district "ag" should be sought and received with thanks, as is being done in many areas.

There are still a few land operators who are die-hards for their old methods and while scoffing at science their tumbleweed and wild oats scatter airily throughout the district.

It's a sort of reverse procedure of beginning with grass or fodder and going through the cow. The note says this rich milk is produced by a cow, but the cow is a mechanical one.

HEATED

The water is heated to 100 degrees and the milk stock added. This is brought to a boil then butter is mixed in at 145 degrees. The mess is then churned for half an hour when it is homogenized and passed over corrugations of a cooler set at 30 degrees.

Result is a smooth creamy milk at 30 cents a quart compared with a former cost of 75 cents for milk shipped to Whitehorse.

* * *

Fence gates immediately parallel with a busy highway form a danger to traffic when the farmer parks his vehicle to open the gate. A simple but effective safety tip is to build a recess or offset in the fence sufficiently deep that you can take the car right in from the road and open your gate at leisure.

OIL

Discrepancy In D-2 Elevation Is Met

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Imperial Golden Spike No. 6 has turned up one of the biggest discrepancies in D-2 elevation so far encountered. Within three quarters of a mile of the discovery well the D-2 has been found to take a 180-foot drop. If the intermediate section between the top of the D-2 and the top of the D-3 is the same at both wells, it will mean that D-3 will also be 180 feet lower than at Schoepp, if it exists at all.

The D-2 contact in fact was so much lower that in Friday's report it was taken for a high D-3. On a test of the zone the well got a 2,250 foot rise of salt water.

However, with 350 feet of pay in the Golden Spike field, the No. 6 though logging 180 feet lower, still has 350 feet leeway in which to find a productive D-3.

BAY PETE PURCHASE

Bay Petroleum Corporation of Denver, Colorado has made a deal with Imperial to buy Imperial's 480 acres of holdings and its two wells in the Whitemud pool.

The purchase price has not been announced but is reported to include oil payment of 15,000 barrels from each well Bay Petroleums may succeed in getting, plus some cash payment.

Imperial drilled one good well, the discovery, which rated a potential of about 1,000 barrels a day. A north offset, however, was dry. Imperial's second well was mediocre as were the New Pacalta wells that followed.

ROXANA APPOINTMENT

Robert L. Reed, head of a large firm of New York solicitors, has become managing director of Roxana Oil Company. Closely associated with Reed will be Leonard Phillips, president of the Calgary Stock Exchange and himself a long time director of Roxana.

OILFIELD BRIEFS

Imperial Oil Ltd. boosted its Redwater successes to 135 Friday when it released the rig from its latest successful driller, and also was assured of D2 success in the southern portion of the Leduc field.

Another Pipeline Bill Kicked By Filibuster

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo) filibustered for 25 minutes against a pipelines bill in the Commons last night and yet mentioned the word "pipeline" scarcely more than a half-dozen times.

He talked western defence and western highways.

He was asked by the Speaker several times to confine his remarks to the principle of the bill under study, an act to incorporate Prairie Transmission Lines Limited.

Western members have been blocking passage of the measure, up for second reading, and it still was awaiting disposal when the time set aside for private legislation had expired.

PACIFIC DEFENCES "WEAK"

Gen. Pearkes joined other westerners in urging that an all-Canadian pipeline route be built from Alberta to British Columbia.

It would appear that the government was deciding to "write off" B.C. in the event of another war, he said. Pacific defences were pitifully weak

As for highways, he felt that the building of a Canadian route for the pipeline would ensure extension of the Canadian highway system. If the line went through the United States as had been suggested, highway construction would suffer.

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East) said a Canadian route for the line would ensure employment for Canadian construction workers and provide B.C. consumers with natural gas cheaper than it would be if they bought it via an American route.

A. F. MacDONALD CRITICAL

Before Gen. Pearkes spoke, A. F. MacDonald (Edmonton East) objected to "a small minority in this House" attempting to delay the business of the country.

"This minority is controlling our right to vote on the questions," he said. "This minority is not allowing us to proceed with public bills and private members' resolutions, which I believe are most important to this country."

Farmers Rap Margarine's Farm Slogan

TORONTO, March 11 — (CP) — The Ontario Federation of Agriculture today asked the Ontario government to forbid sale of margarine with color capsules enclosed in or attached to the package.

A delegation presented a brief to Premier Frost and his cabinet, contending that color was the natural trade mark of butter and coloring of margarine should be more strictly controlled.

The brief also charged that margarine manufacturers are using misleading advertising in such slogans as "country fresh" and "milk makes the flavor."

Uses of preservatives other than common salt should not be permitted, the federation said. Other preservatives were forbidden in butter.

"It is unfair and unjust to be faced with a competitor which legally hides its inferiorities with a chemical preservative such as benzoate of soda," the brief said.

Production and sale of margarine should be controlled by means of a provincial licence or a quota sales tax, the brief said.

Legalization of the sale of margarine in 1949 resulted in a direct loss to Ontario cream producers of $6,500,000, the federation contended. This loss had reduced the purchasing power of the country, the industry and labor were feeling its effect.

Brothers Shot In Wild Chase

KINGSTON, Ont., March 11 — (CP) — A wild 60-mile-an-hour chase of an alleged stolen car ended on the outskirts of Kingston late yesterday in the wounding of two Kingston brothers after they had been surrounded by a cordon of provincial police. In hospital are Claudio VanKoughnet and his brother Dalton. Police said the pair tried to shoot it out after being trapped in a tile factory.

Bitterly Assail Plan For Pension Study

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—The government's plan for a fact-finding old-age security committee was launched in the Commons yesterday. It promptly ran into a succession of opposition charges that it would make only for "evasive inactivity."

Health Minister Martin moved to set up the committee, heralded in the Speech from the Throne, and said it would study all phases of old-age security with the eventual aim of establishment of the "best possible" old age and retirement system for Canadians.

Of the widely-criticized means test, basis for the awarding of present old-age pensions, he made this clear: its elimination depends "on arrangements to be worked out with the provinces and on the kind of system that is ultimately devised."

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton), chief Progressive Conservative spokesman, termed it a powerless "mushroom" committee, mushroomed into being to relieve the "pressure" on the government from all parts of the country to improve pensions.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), proponent of a better pension system, joined Mr. Fleming in his assertion that a committee was no substitute for government action. Canadians still were waiting for that "new world" which so often had been promised by members of the government.

ALL-PARTY COMITTEE

They would study existing and proposed pensions schemes of all types and hear representations from labor, industry agriculture, social welfare organizations and any other groups interested in the growing social problem of elderly security.
